UNEMPLOYED IN RIOTS IN TRAFALGAR SQUARE

SCUFFLES WITH POLICE

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A MOTORCAR

POLICE BATON CHARGE

London, Oct. 30.
Sharp scuffles occurred between police and unemployed demonstrators in Trafalgar Square to-day. Numbers were injured and taken into custody.

The trouble commenced with a wrecking campaign by a party of hooligans. They started to break the windows of a nearby shop and then held up a motorcar endeavouring to make progress through the throng.

The driver was in a serious plight. He was forced to desert the car and efforts were made to overturn it without success.

RINGLEADERS ARRESTED.

When it was observed that the situation was rapidly getting out of the control of the police acting in isolated incidents, a police baton charge was ordered and the mob was quickly dispersed, though not until several of the police and the rioters had received minor injuries and many of the ringleaders of the disturbances had been arrested.

The disorders were the outcome of a large political meeting which was addressed by the unemployed, but the majority of the demonstrators had dispersed in an orderly manner immediately after the meeting. The disturbances were caused by hooligans who remained behind looking for trouble.

FASTEST FIGHTER IN WORLD

BRITAIN'S LATEST WONDER-CRAFT

AUTOMATIC PILOT

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Oct. 31.

The world's fastest military aircraft, having passed the most exacting tests under all conditions, will be shown at the International Aero Exhibition which is opening in Paris on November 18.

The machine is the latest plane constructed for the British Royal Air Force. It is a Fairey Firefly single-seater fighter, equipped with a supercharged engine, developing 800 h.p.

The plane has a normal speed of 240 miles an hour, four miles a minute. It is also equipped with an uncanny device called "The Automatic Pilot."

THE TYPHOON

An anticyclone remains over North China; the typhoon is situated about 100 miles east of South Hainan, moving westwards. Moderate to fresh monsoon will prevail along the China coast and over the Northern China Sea.

Local weather forecast:—N. E. winds, fresh; fair.

Lieut.-Colonel E. D. Matthews, the Secretary of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club, returned from leave yesterday.

AN ELEGANT FRAUD

BOGUS FACTORY INSPECTOR

BELIEVED TO BE A PORTUGUESE

Police investigations following the report that a foreigner, posing as an Inspector of Factories, has been going the round of factories on the mainland and demanding "squeeze" from the managements, have led to the conviction that the man is a Portuguese, of short and thin build, but with an elegant appearance which his well-pomaded hair and neat suit of grey serge emphasised.

This elegance was also imparted to his fine gestures, and he never spoke except through the medium of a Chinese interpreter who "diffidently" followed him about.

One of his victims, Lau Wai-kuen, manager of the Yuet Yee Lung Knitting Factory at Mong-kok, who was induced to part with money, describes him as of singularly youthful appearance, certainly not more than 25 years old.

The area of Mongkok where the area of Mongkok where the "Inspector's" field of exploitation within the past few days, but it seems that not many have been imposed upon.

The Police have the matter under close investigation.

ARMISTICE NIGHT DINNER

ARRANGEMENTS WELL IN HAND

We are informed that the arrangements are now almost complete for the dinner and smoker which is to be held by Ex-Active Service Men at the Peninsula Hotel on Armistice Night. A fairly large muster is expected, an extension until 1 a.m. has been recommended, and everything points to a very pleasant evening.

The decorations are in the capable hands of Mr. Tatterson, R.N., who has a great deal of experience in such matters, and a capital concert programme is being arranged. There will be no speeches and the only toast, apart from the usual loyal one to be honoured, is to be "Our Fallen Comrades."

No official guests are being invited. Any balance after the necessary expenses have been defrayed will be divided equally between Earl Haig's Poppy Day Fund and St. Dunstan's Home for the Blind.

We have been requested to ask all those who propose to attend, provided they have not already done so, to send in their applications for tickets as soon as possible, as it may be necessary to close the list at an early date, of which, however, due notice will appear in the press.

AFTER RELEASE

We have received, just as we go to press, a photograph of Mr. Charles Corkran, Mrs. Pawley and her husband, taken at Newchwang on the arrival of the released captives after 44 days in the hands of bandits, which strikingly conveys its own story. It will be published in our second edition.

BLACK SEA TRAIN DISASTER

Death Sentence for Stationmaster

INTERFERED WITH SIGNALMAN

Moscow, Oct. 30.
As a sequel to the Black Sea express wreck disaster, the Supreme Court to-day passed sentence of death upon M. Bulakoff, the Station Master.

He was convicted of interfering with the work of his assistant, named Vonteev, by arbitrarily signalling the line clear while it was occupied by another train.

Vonteev was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment for not preventing Bulakoff from interfering.

The watchman and a signalman were sentenced to six years' imprisonment and one year's imprisonment respectively for their part in the terrible disaster, in which it is alleged, ninety persons were killed and over three hundred were injured.

The disaster occurred on October 16 and the Soviet endeavoured to prevent news of its gravity from leaking out.—Reuter.

RECENT BRAWL SEQUEL

TWO COOLIES FACE MURDER CHARGE

A charge of murder has now replaced that of grievous bodily harm in the case against Lo Chung and Lo Tack, market coolies, following the death in hospital of Tong Tsat whom they are alleged to have fatally injured in a brawl in which bamboo poles were used on the central waterfront recently.

The new charge was mentioned by Det. Inspector John Murphy when the coolies appeared on remand before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court to-day. The officer said that consequent on this development, he would want a week's remand to enable the Public Prosecutor to be brought into the proceedings. He explained that the charge may be modified to manslaughter after consultation with Mr. J. A. Fraser. Accused were formally remanded for a week. Mr. Horace Lo is appearing on their behalf.

THREATS IN VAIN

JAPANESE AND GEN. SU PING-WEN

AMICABLE PEACE NOW SOUGHT

(Special to "Telegraph").

Harbin, Oct. 31.

Threats having failed, the Japanese military authorities are now making vigorous efforts to secure the return of General Su Ping-wen to the Manchukuo fold by negotiations involving a possible financial settlement.

In view of Su Ping-wen's communication to the League in which he vowed never to lay down his arms until Manchuria has been freed from the oppressive yoke of Japanese militarism, it is doubtful whether the anti-Manchukuo general will succumb to Japanese blandishments.

Su Ping-wen engineered the widespread mutiny in North Manchukuo which resulted in the capture of large numbers of Japanese residents and the severance from Manchukuo control of a huge area from Manchukuo almost to Tsitsihar.

ULTIMATUMS IGNORED.

Although ultimatums were delivered to Su Ping-wen threatening large scale military action as he did not release all his Japanese prisoners, the Japanese military consider it best to arrange, if they can, an amicable settlement.

The mutineer general now controls about 260 miles of the western section of the Chinese Eastern Railway between Manchukuo and Tsitsihar and he would undoubtedly be able to provide a strong resistance.

THE WHIPHAND.

Besides the difficulties involved in the task of dispersal of his forces, the Japanese evidently fear that military movements along the C.E.R. would probably cause the displeasure of the Soviet, particularly now when delicate negotiations have been commenced in Moscow, with a view to the conclusion of a Russo-Japanese understanding. They are most anxious to avoid any dispute with the Soviet at this stage.

They are, therefore, making overtures to Su Ping-wen for the purpose of arranging a meeting to discuss the points in dispute between him and the Manchukuo Government.

If Su Ping-wen agrees to negotiate, Japanese and Manchukuo representatives would proceed to the venue, probably Manchukuo, by air.

HEADQUARTERS MOVED.

The headquarters of the Japanese Army in Manchuria have just been removed from Mukden to Changchun, to which city General Muto and his staff have already proceeded.—Reuter.

LIU HOLDS TSITSA.

HEAVY FIGHTING AROUND LAICHOW

Peking, Oct. 29.

Foreign reports from Chofoo report that heavy fighting is taking place at Laichow where General Liu Chen-nien is holding out against greater numbers.

Five hundred of General Liu's troops are holding Tsitsa where 300 of General Han Fu-chu's cavalry appeared outside of the walls.

General Liu's troops are carrying out sporadic raids at Laichow in quest of food, clothing, etc., but Chofoo remains quiet, the Chinese cruiser, Haicheng, being in the inner harbour, where are also British and American warships.—Reuter.

HABAROVSK FILLED WITH TROOPS

RUSSIAN REFUGEES' STORY.

Harbin, Oct. 31.
Four Russian refugees, whose ages range from 24 to 19, arrived from Habarovsk yesterday by steamer and were arrested by the police for being without documents.

The youths state that fifty military and many civil aeroplanes are stationed at Habarovsk and that the town is filled with troops. They decided to risk everything and escape from the U.S.S.R. owing to the insufficiency of foodstuffs for civilians.—Reuter.

TSITSIHAR PERIL

ATTACK REPORTED IMMINENT

SECRET AGENTS AT WORK

Harbin, Oct. 31.

A tense situation prevails at Tsitsihar in the face of the threat of an imminent attack by large anti-Manchukuo forces and suspicions of plans for internal co-operation with the attackers.

According to the Japanese newspapers, the anti-Manchukuo forces are moving on Tsitsihar and are endeavouring to encircle the city, with the supposed intention of storming it when the moment is considered ripe.

It is stated that secret agents and anti-Manchukuo spies have been extremely active in Tsitsihar conducting anti-Manchukuo propaganda and preparing to assist the Volunteers when their attack is launched.—Reuter.

FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE

HONGKONG BANK MAN RETIRES

London, Oct. 31.
Mr. Harry Davies Campbell Jones, senior Manager of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, retires to-day, having completed fifty years' service with the Bank.

Mr. Jones, who is 69 years of age, was with the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank in Manila from 1885 to 1906, being in charge as Manager of the various Philippine branches, from 1897 to 1906, during the Spanish regime and American occupation.

He was Manager in Yokohama from 1907 to 1911, being in charge of all the Bank's branches in Japan. He has been Joint Manager in London since 1912, was from 1923 to 1925 on the Committee of the Overseas Banks' Association, being re-elected for a further three years in 1926, and was Chairman and Vice-Chairman in 1926-27. He married Miss Victoria Earnshaw in 1895, and there are three sons.—Reuter.

BIG FIRM FRAUD ALLEGED

MERCHANT GRANTED $100,000 BAIL

Charges involving losses of over a lakh of dollars were brought against Chan Sik-nin before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning by Mr. Hin-shing Lo (instructed by Mr. Peter Sin).

The defendant was alleged to have forged and uttered a power of attorney and with it to have taken control and management of Herr Bracht, who is to act as Minister of the Interior in Prussia.

REICH CONTROL IN PRUSSIA

POLITICAL FUSION PROPOSALS

A COMPROMISE AGREEMENT

Berlin, Oct. 30.

The constitutional struggle between the State Ministers of Prussia and the Von Papen Government having been overcome by a compromise agreement, the political fusion of the Reich and Prussia will be accomplished to-morrow.

An official announcement will be made defining the proposals for the fusion and making various appointments in consequence thereof.

Herr Bracht and Herr Popitz, Reich Ministers without portfolio, will take over the Prussian Ministries of the Interior and Finance respectively.

Herr Braun, the Reich Minister of Food, will be entrusted with the Prussian Ministry of Agriculture.

REICH CONTROL.

Yesterday, the new "Iron" Chancellor, Captain Franz von Papen issued a decree abolishing the Prussian Ministry of Welfare as well as various departments of other Ministries the functions of which will be taken over by Ministers of the Reich.—Reuter.

NO NEWS FROM PRATAS

HOPES OF EARLY INFORMATION

No news has yet been received by the Royal Observatory from Pratas wireless station since 11 p.m. on Friday, when typhoon force wind was being experienced there. It is understood, however, that the station is in communication with Shanghai and Manila on short-wave, but the wavelength being used is not known in Hongkong. Efforts are, however, being made to secure this information, and then it is likely that more definite news will be received of the effects of the typhoon.

The China Navigation Co.'s Kay-ling was in very close proximity to the typhoon on Saturday, while on her way from Bangkok to Swatow. Information has, however, been received that she has not been damaged. She is expected here from Swatow to-morrow.

The King Fuk Wo firm at 66, Bonham Strand East.

After legal argument between Mr. Lo and Mr. F. X. d'Almada, senr., who appeared for the defendant, his Worship remanded the defendant, granting bail in a sum of $100,000.

AMERICA'S NEXT CABINET

WASHINGTON SEERS ACTIVE

While Mr. Franklin Roosevelt has not yet defeated President Hoover in the election, political prophets in Washington are already selecting his Cabinet for him.

Mr. John W. Davis, former Ambassador to Great Britain, is the most probable choice for Secretary of State in the event of Mr. Roosevelt's success in the presidential campaign, according to current expectation.

Mr. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in the Wilson cabinet, now practising law at Cleveland, is regarded as extremely well-qualified for the post, and strong representations on his behalf are anticipated. Mr. Baker is considered to have been one of the ablest members of the Wilson cabinet, and "insiders" say that he had a very prominent part in discussions of international policy during the World War.

MR. POLK QUALIFIED.

Mr. Frank L. Polk, formerly Under-Secretary of State and for a time Acting Secretary, is also likely to receive consideration in the event that Mr. Davis and Mr. Baker are required for other posts, but he does not have extensive political support.

The "edge" given to Mr. Davis in advance speculation rests upon his prestige as diplomat and attorney, and the belief that his appointment would command high confidence at home and abroad.

All disinterested observers concede the availability of Democratic cabinet material of exceptional talent and administrative experience, and this fact is extensively agitated among Democrats as an asset in the campaign.

Messrs. Davis, Baker, Owen D. Young, and William G. McAdoo, are mentioned as the possible "big four" in the cabinet, and their qualifications are compared with those of Messrs. Stimson, Ogden Mills, Hurley and the most prominent advisers in President Hoover's cabinet.

Mr. Young is mentioned most frequently as Secretary of the Treasury, although observers consider that his numerous large business interests might make his appointment inconvenient.

BELIEF IN ABILITY.

Mr. Young's strength rests on a widespread belief in his ability and his success in a variety of difficult national and international enterprises and the presumption that his appointment would command the confidence of financial New York.

Mr. William G. McAdoo, famous during the war as Secretary of the Treasury for management of the great Liberty Loans, is Democratic candidate for Senator from California. If successful, President Roosevelt would probably depend on him as a powerful ally in the Senate. If he should be defeated in Hoover's home State by a narrow margin, he would probably still be regarded as eligible for a Cabinet post.

"AL" SMITH FAVOURED.

The qualifications of Mr. Alfred E. Smith, the defeated presidential candidate, for a cabinet post, are of course, evident. Since he has enlisted in the presidential campaign, a cabinet appointment may be offered him, if he desires such a plan.

Senator Carter Glass, for a time Secretary of Treasury in the Wilson cabinet, and co-author of the Federal Reserve Act, is also frequently mentioned as a Cabinet possibility. Senators of both parties have paid tribute to his extraordinary talent in fiscal matters, and he has had a leading part in most fiscal and banking legislation during the last decade. His appointment would have the political advantage of

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

A clever example of card reading by application of the rule of 11 occurred in the final session of the National Masters' Individual Championship Tournament. The East hand was played by David Burnstine, and he succeeded in making four no trump against a defence which defeated most East players at three.

 ♠K-9-7-6-4 ♥K-10-2 ♦7-6-3 ♣3-2 	 NORTH ♠A-8-2 ♥4-3 ♦K-4-2 ♣K-Q-7-6-4
 ♠J-5 ♥A-Q-6 ♦A-Q-J-10-5 ♣J-9-8 	 EAST ♠Q-10-3 ♥J-9-8-7-5 ♦9-8 ♣A-10-5

The Bidding.

After a pass by South, West opened the bidding with one diamond. North and South being vulnerable, the North player did not dare consider a defensive overcall. He passed and East bid two no trump. West raised to three no trump, which became the final contract.

The Play.

South's correct opening was the seven of hearts and most declarers finessed the queen in dummy, which proved to be a fatal error. North won with the king and drove out the ace of hearts immediately, so that when South was in the lead with the ace of clubs, his remaining hearts were established.

Burnstine played more cautiously and refused to cover the seven of hearts when it was led. North now did some card counting, and by the rule of 11 he determined that Burnstine in the East had no heart which could take the seven, therefore North played the deuce of hearts. When South's seven held the first trick, he continued with the five of hearts.

It was now Burnstine's turn to apply the rule of 11 and he reasoned in the following manner—South's seven spot lead showed that he had three higher hearts; therefore, by a process of elimination, North had two.

The five of hearts led to the second trick marked South with a five-card suit originally, and therefore North could have only two hearts left—both of which were higher than the seven.

If North had held two intermediate hearts—such as the eight, nine, ten or jack—he should have played one of them to the first trick for two reasons: first, to signify his approval of the lead and his desire for its continuation; and secondly, to unblock the suit for his partner. When North played the deuce, a decidedly discouraging card, it could only be because he did not wish to take the lead, and the deuce was the only card he could play to leave the lead with South.

Burnstine reasoned that North allowed South to hold the first trick in order to get another lead through the ace-queen in dummy, and therefore one of North's high hearts must be the king. Accordingly he played the ace in dummy, wisely refusing an obvious finesse.

After running off five diamonds, he led a small club from dummy. South won with the ace and returned a heart, but North's king blocked the suit.

Although South held two more good hearts there was no way for him to get the lead and Burnstine made the remaining tricks.

DISARMAMENT
PLAN*FRENCH PROPOSAL
REACTIONS

London, Oct. 30.

An important statement on the French disarmament plan as it affects Britain, has been made to Reuters' Paris correspondent by a high official who is closely associated with the preparation of the plan.

He said there was no cause for alarm in Britain, as there was no question of resuscitating the protocol with its compulsory armed resistance for attacked countries. The proposed system of regional mutual assistance did not mean asking Britain to join the Eastern Locarno nor for Britain to be called on to supply troops to a standing common army to prevent aggression. Similarly the plan left unaffected armies, such as Britain's, which were kept for Colonial service. Britain was not expected to adopt conscription.

Two New Points.

The official French communiqué on the disarmament plan adds two points to those announced by M. Herriot yesterday.

The points which deal with the conditions on which France will agree to the generalisation of reduction of short-term service for all metropolitan land forces are:—(1) Provided disarmament is interdependent between land, sea and air forces. (2) Provided the nations responsible for overseas territories retain their specialised forces.

The International atmosphere which has hitherto been shown in the French disarmament plan encourages M. Herriot to pursue a daring plan of issuing a verbal summary of the proposals, which will probably be given at Geneva on November 3.

Silently Hopeful.

Official opinion in London is silently hopeful that the initiative of the American Ambassador, Mr. Norman Davis, will lead to the achievement of a formula under which Germany will be brought back to the Geneva Conference.

Though there will be no German delegation to the Disarmament Bureau meeting at Geneva on Thursday, it is known that Herr Neurath will then be at Geneva in connexion with the Manchurian issue.

It is realised that the final solution of the disarmament problem hinges on the result of the German elections, but the German Government's qualified welcome of the French plan shows that a constructive approach is now in the making from both sides of the Geneva fence.

Press Comment.

The Observer says the plan is mystifying Paris and the world. The scheme is hard for Germany to accept as it will perpetuate for some years the present relative inferiority of the Reichswehr. The newspaper contends that the vital cause of difficulty and danger is not the Franco-German question but the complicated Polish question, but for which rapprochement between Gaul and Teuton could be effected.—Reuter.

ARMISTIC DAYUSUAL OBSERVANCE IN LONDON

London, Oct. 29.

Arrangements for the celebration of Armistice Day on Friday, November 11, have been complete, and details have been forwarded to all parts of the Empire.

It is hoped there will be, as in previous years, a general co-operation in the observance of the anniversary.

According to present arrangements, the King will attend a central celebration at the Cenotaph in Whitehall and shortly before the service begins the King and the Duke of York will lay wreaths at the base of the memorial. Wreaths will subsequently be laid on behalf of other members of the Royal Family and his Majesty's Governments of the United Kingdom, Dominions, India, Colonies and Protectorates, and on behalf of the Services.

The two minutes' silence at 11 a.m. will as usual precede the service, and the silence will be ended with the sounding of the Last Post. A short service will bring the ceremony to a close.—British Wireless.

CALL of the WEST

By R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN BALL, an agent for cattle interests, faces ASPIER DELO in his office. Asper is accused of killing men sent to check his timbering activities at Three Rivers. Ball announces he will personally see that he does not make the check.

Leaving the office, Stan saves a girl from kidnappers. She proves to be DONNA DELO, Asper's daughter. When Stan learns her name he tells her he is STANLEY BLACK and slips away.

DUDLEY WINTERHILL, in love with Donna, agrees to go to Three Rivers and bring Asper back. Donna goes with him and at a little ranch place on the way Dudley puts a plan of marriage to Donna, hoping she will take this plan of getting Asper DeLo to return. She agrees but holds back when Stan Ball, on his way to Three Rivers, stops out of the night and kisses her.

At Three Rivers they meet SWERGIN, Asper's timber boss, and he says he is ready to kill Ball, that Ball shot a ranger. Donna declines to ride in the hunt for Ball. She catches a bad horse and has to try to ride him to keep up her pride.

Donna rides the roan, Swergin tells her she must not ride without a gun as Ball is a killer and is at large.

CHAPTER IX

Donna and Malloy rode around the corrals and when they were well out of sight of the main buildings above them the cowboy answered to the left. They doubled back, following a wash that hid them from the camp. Donna had slipped the carbine loose in its scabbard. Malloy rode ahead with a careless swing that spoke of years in the saddle and the girl noticed that he carried no rifle but had a heavy six gun in a worn holster at his hip.

They were climbing out of the wash when a rider galloped from the timber and descended upon them amid a rattling shower of rocks. The rider was Swergin and he was angry.

"You take this girl back to camp," he shouted. "I'll ride along to see that you do it. You better not try any more sneaking tricks on me!"

Malloy put his horse and an amused grin pulled at the corners of his wide mouth. He looked at Donna for acceptance or refusal and it was plain that what she wanted would be done. For a moment she considered, then rapid appraisal of Swergin told her that he would not be denied without a fight. Malloy, she knew, would not sidestep any action the timber boss might start—even to gun play. With a smile she motioned to her escort that they would go back.

They rode in silence to the camp where Swergin ordered their horses put away. Donna made no protest and she felt Malloy's eyes on her as he dismounted. She was not yet ready to put Swergin in his place.

Dudley was at the corral and it was plain that he was angry. He had a better horse saddled and had been asking questions of the corral boy. Donna felt a pang of conscience and was glad she had come back. Dudley would soon learn to ride and she must not treat him as though she did not want him. He dismounted and they walked up to the main building together.

"Trying to catch me?" he asked. His voice was level.

"No, Dad, but I wanted to take a real ride." Donna was truly sorry.

"I'm going to ride out after you every time you leave camp. Maybe I'll make a good target but I refuse to be treated like a 10-year-old."

Dudley said testily.

"It is foolish for you to ride out alone or with any of the men," Donna protested. "You've never been in the mountains and you've never ridden or used a rifle. This man, Ball, is bad and he is desperate." She laid a hand on his arm. "You should see now, Dad, that I am at home in this country and as able as a man to take care of myself."

Dudley caught her hand and faced her about. He looked deep into her eyes. "I don't want to be a rotter, Donna, but you have me at a disadvantage. It isn't fair. What chance have I to be a man in your eyes unless I get out with the others and share the danger?"

Donna met his ardent gaze and did not try to free herself. For a long minute they looked into each other's eyes and Donna felt the old thrill beginning to lay hold of her heart. She felt the same fear, too, that would not let her be swept away by Dudley's eager glance. Swergin's voice rose from the corral where he was talking to Malloy.

"Anybody that is fool enough to ride up the Pass Creek trail will get a bullet from the bushes! That's where Gillette got it." Swergin's voice dropped to a snarl. It was plain that he was laying down orders to Malloy. "The cowboy's answer could not be heard but it evidently had an edge of its own as Swergin burst forth in a fresh spurt of anger.

An accusing light came into Dudley's eyes. "You were going to ride to Pass Creek," he said, jerking Donna a little in his impatience.

She nodded. "I was foolish, I guess, but it didn't seem so dangerous to me."

"The next time you ride I go with you," he stated flatly.

Asper DeLo did not ride with the posse. He set out by himself with his rifle across his saddle. At the edge of the clearing surrounding the camp he pulled up beside a pile of logs. A man was working with an ax beside the pile. Asper hailed him.

Can you tell me where to hit the trail to Pass Creek?" he demanded.

The man straightened and looked Asper over. It was plain that he did not recognize his employer. "Up to the red rim." The man pointed to where a rim of red rocks broke out of the timber above. "Then a mile along the rim and you'll hit the trail. Takes you down a little canyon and through a strip of broken country." The man bent his gaze on the bit of his ax and prepared to return to his work.

Asper rode on at a brisk pace. As he neared the red rim he began taking all the cover he could and slowed his pace. Already the country began to grow rough. Great rocks rose out of the growth of aspens that had been left standing by the timber cutters. Asper grunted as he noted that all of the pine had been cut clean except for second growth and young stuff. The drag lines had wrought havoc with the country and it was eroding badly. Swergin was a bit too much of a clown, Asper observed, but he was able to handle the forests officials.

As he rode along the rim he was able to stay under cover fairly well. He proceeded with more caution as he got deeper into the broken country. Brush and rock piles offered excellent hideouts and he knew he was at a disadvantage should Ball be lying in hiding, where he had to pass.

Dudley sat on the porch with Donna for half an hour. Then he went down to the corrals. He was eager to learn all he could and to get more practice at riding. Donna watched him idly. Her mind was busy with many thoughts. A man rode up and halted and Donna remembered him as one of the posse.

"Is my father, Mr. DeLo, with your men?" she called.

The man shook his head. "He didn't go out with us. I'm looking for Swergin. Have you seen him?"

Donna replied that the timber boss had been at the corrals and the man rode on. By this time Dudley had a horse saddled and he mounted. Donna watched him ride around the corral and down the slope. She smiled. Dudley was game all right and eager to show her he was her equal. Then a disturbing thought crept into her mind. Had her father decided to ride the Pass Creek trail? Her own decision, prompted by Swergin's warning, made her almost sure that he had. And he had gone alone. That was the very thing he had wanted to do, to meet Ball single-handed and have it out. The thought so upset her that she left the porch and headed for the corrals.

She did not find Malloy or Swergin there but she saw the rider who had halted at the porch. He was turning his horse loose and dragging a saddle to the fence. She waited until he had gone, then entered the corral. Certainly that was father was in danger made her hurry. She caught the roan without trouble and swung the heavy saddle to his back. He seemed to have accepted her as master and did not fight when she mounted.

Donna rode straight across the clearing in the direction in which Malloy had indicated that Pass Creek lay. Seeing a man working at a pile of logs, she halted to ask a directions. He straightened and looked at her curiously. He was Spanish and deliberate in his speech.

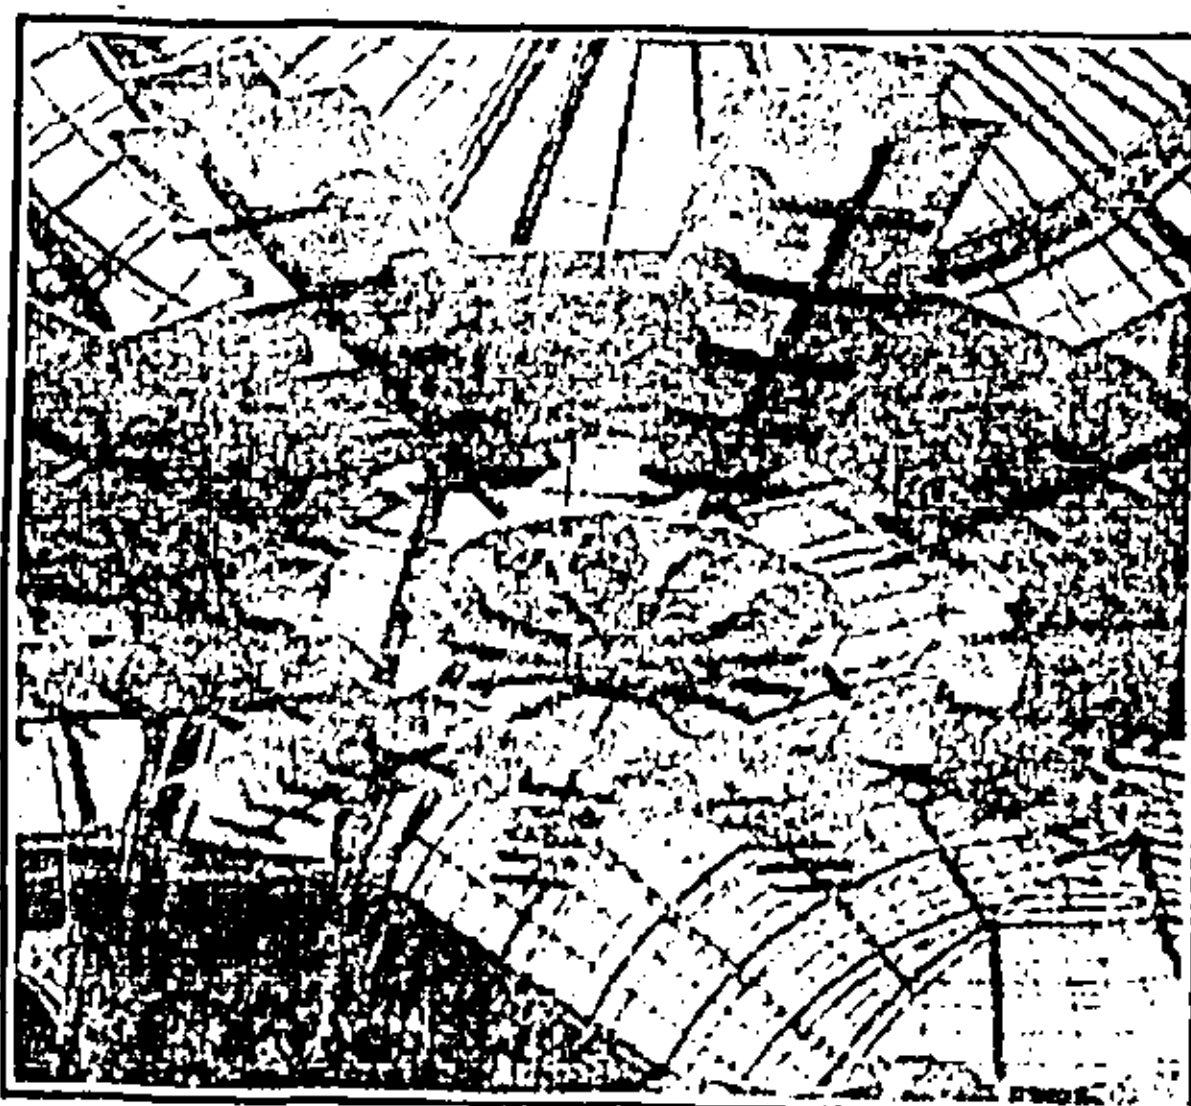

"Up to the red rim, then a mile along the rim and you hit the trail," he pointed a sun-darkened arm toward the upper slopes. As an after thought he added, "One rider went that way a half hour ago."

"Was he a big man on a grey horse?" Donna asked.

The man nodded and tried the edge of his ax blade on his thumb, then returned to his chopping. Donna put the roan to a gallop and headed toward the red rim. She was sure now that her father had ridden straight in to the locality where Ball was hiding. She did not pause to consider the danger into which she might be riding. She was sure Asper would ride slowly and that she could overtake him. Her plan was simple. She would catch up with him and he would return to camp rather than risk danger to her. She was so taken with this plan that she promised herself she would ride with him every day. That would be sure to keep him out of dangerous territory.

The trail became more broken and she entered rough country. Finally she reached the end of the rim and swung to the left down into the narrow canyon. She had not ridden a quarter of a mile down this trail until she realized that it was extremely dangerous for a hunter to follow. A man could hide above the trail on either side. He could cache his horse in the thick growth and waylay anyone who came past. She pictured Gillette riding down that trail and being ambushed. In sudden fear for her father Donna abandoned cover and rode at a gallop.

THE DISARMAMENT OUTLOOK

This week, the Disarmament Conference Bureau is to meet again, and the gathering will be one of the most momentous ever held in Geneva, since it will most likely give some indication as to how far the Powers are prepared to prove their sincerity in the matter of cutting down armaments. Much talk will centre on the new French plan, which, it is thought, may go far to meet Germany's wishes. Without a doubt the German demand for equality, if it has done nothing else, has brought disarmament well into the picture once more. No one will dispute the British contention that Treaty undertakings can only cease to be binding by agreement, but it must also be conceded that, if German disarmament was a legal contract, disarmament by the other Powers was surely a moral undertaking, to put it at its lowest.

Sir John Simon has declared that to state what is the aim of a stipulation is a very different thing from making the successful fulfilment of that object the condition of the stipulation. But one may ask, what was the point of saying that the Allied and Associated Powers would aim at disarmament if they did not mean that they would achieve disarmament? The legal case may be as set forth in the British statement of views, but it is not only the wording of the Preamble to Part V of the Treaty that matters. The spirit underlying it is important, too.

The British public and the people of other countries understood and were encouraged to understand that the compulsory disarmament of Germany was to lead to voluntary and agreed general disarmament. The Geneva Conference was called together to secure the realisation of that aim in as large a measure as possible. However unsatisfactory may be the results so far achieved, it is important to remember that the Conference has only concluded its first phase. The British Government rightly states that "it would be a tragic paradox if the outcome of the first Disarmament Conference was an increase in armaments, or the actual re-arming of any State." The only acceptable result will be what the British Government claims to be its own aim:—"A really valuable measure of disarmament in which each nation will bind itself to a strict limitation both in kind and the quantities of its weapons of war." That is the most promising statement of its general aim that the British Government has yet made, and it has been made in reply to the German demand for equality. We have yet to see what it means in substance.

We remember the resolution on qualitative disarmament which Sir John Simon submitted to the Conference, and which the experts promptly proceeded to destroy by their own special brand of ridicule and contempt. We remember also the Hoover plan, which was in some quarters accorded the sort of frigid welcome that is extended to the unwanted guest. It is scarcely surprising, therefore, that Germany, herself disarmed, should have become very sceptical as to the disarmament intentions of some of the other Powers. But the work has yet to be completed. Failure has not been recorded; success is still attainable; and the greater the measure of success, the nearer will the approach be made to realising the equality which Germany claims.

Taxation on Leave

Successive British Governments, of whatever political complexion, are extraordinarily slow in remedying the innumerable anomalies which have crept into the income tax collection practice, be they never so glaring. There is, in particular, one of these anomalies to which attention has been repeatedly called in England without avail, and which continues to inflict peculiar hardship. We refer to the Englishman who works in an outpost of Empire, whether it be in the service of the State or in trade. This man, often condemned to live in a tropical or unhealthy climate, looks forward, every three, four, or five years, to a reasonable period of recuperation in the homeland. No sooner does he arrive than he is the object of instant curiosity on the part of the tax collector. If he remains for five months and three weeks within any financial year, the collector observes a discreet silence. But if illness, or business, or the legitimate completion of his leave should detain him for another fortnight, he is visited with a demand for tax for the whole six months and a week upon his current income, and also upon any saving he may have brought with him to spend in the country. Resentful and irritated, he naturally forestalls any such mishap by completing his leave on the Continent. In further illustration of the absurdity and injustice of the system, it may be pointed out that the returned exile can stay in the country from November till August (that is, for five months in each of two financial years) with impunity; if he stays from May till February he pays ten months' tax. Clearly there is urgent need of drastic reform. Under the existing practice, the Treasury receives next to nothing, but merely drives the victim prematurely out of the country, with corresponding loss to trade. A better example of a tax at once futile and onerous could hardly be imagined. Immunity should either be extended, or at least granted for a specific period (e.g., six months) in respect of which no tax liability would be incurred. Colonial governments, Hongkong included, apparently regard the Imperial authorities too greatly in awe to permit them to make representations in this matter.

A Chinese woman was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital during the week-end, the victim of a motor accident in Queen's Road West, when she received body injuries resulting from being knocked down by a P.W.D. lorry.

His many friends will regret to hear that as the result of a motor mishap near his residence, Dr. Bruno Hahn, Consul General for Germany, crushed his leg rather badly last night. He is at present confined to his bed and will probably be absent from the consulate for some days.

Great success attended the dance held at the Kowloon Cricket Club on Saturday, auguring well for such events in the future. A big gathering of members and friends danced to the strains of the popular Lincoln dance band, and dancing was extended until past midnight. It is anticipated that these dances will become regular monthly features throughout the winter.

Evelyn Laye, the beautiful star of London light opera, who has given somewhat crude material to work with in "One Heavenly Night," her first picture in Hollywood, now shining at the King's Theatre, succeeds in keeping interest alive through sheer artistry. It is very mixed grill, but the film is lively in movement. John Boles again revealed his lack of versatility, but his voice harmonises remarkably well with that of the feminine star.

Quite an attractive programme is being shown at present at the Queen's Theatre, all British with the exception of one Horatius news reel. The main feature is "Brother Alfred," a film adaptation of a P.G. Wodehouse story. This is sheer farce, with Gene Garrard in the main role. He is not as good, however, as he might be, but the film is quite entertaining in its way. Other items are an excellent Pathe news reel and some most educational instructional films, the one showing the growth of trout from the egg onwards being extremely good. We could do with more of this type of film in Hongkong.

The health bulletin of Eastern Ports for the week ended October 22, shows the following cases of infectious diseases and deaths therefrom:—Plague, Birut 1 case, Colombo 2 cases 2 deaths, Saigon 1 case, Cholon 3 cases 2 deaths, Bangkok 1 case 1 death, Saigon 1 case 1 death, Small-pox, Alexandria 7 cases 4 deaths, Aden 1 case (imported), Baghdad 3 cases 2 deaths, Basrah 18 cases 9 deaths, Bombay 7 cases 3 deaths, Calcutta 6 cases 5 deaths, Madras 24 cases 7 deaths, Negapatnam 1 case, Rangoon 1 case 1 death, Tuticorin 9 cases 3 deaths, Canton 6 cases 1 death.

END OF DRIFT—

By the Rt. Hon. W. M. HUGHES

THE OTTAWA AGREEMENT has put an end to the aimless drift which has for many years characterised inter-Empire trade relations and given us a definite constructive Empire trade policy.

Food and raw materials from the Dominions and India are given special advantages in British markets and British manufactured goods corresponding advantages in Dominion and Indian markets. There is, of course, nothing new in preferential treatment of Empire products, but hitherto preference has been a mere hesitant and almost fugitive gesture, lacking continuity and definite purpose.

The Ottawa Conference has boldly adopted it as a means of giving effect to a practical Empire Trade Policy. Imperial in its scope and inspired by great ideals, the Ottawa Agreement is infused by business principles. It was arrived at after long and most trying discussions, and represents the result of a good deal of hard bargaining. It will be subjected to much criticism; some will condemn it because it goes too far, others because it does not go far enough.

The Agreement seeks to promote trade between the various parts of the Empire; but at present trade—not Empire trade alone, but all trade—is wasted to a shadow; it is sick almost unto death. The Agreement leaves the world depression untouched; perhaps this was inevitable, for the Depression is a World problem; but the fact remains that unless and until there is a substantial and sustained rise in price-levels no improvement in trade, Empire, foreign, or domestic, is possible. When and how this is to come we do not know. It may be, perhaps, that after the Americans have elected their President and settled down a bit to cool off, the nations of the world, meeting in conference, may lead us out of the dreadful morass in which we have been floundering so long. Let us hope so.

And now as to the Agreement in its general application. It has brought the peoples of the Empire to the economic trough; whether they drink or not depends upon themselves and upon the enterprise and business capacity of Dominion producers and British captains of industry. Competition will still have to be faced. The Ottawa Agreement has not eliminated foreign traders, but merely handicapped them. And as Empire markets are very important, foreigners will make strong efforts to hold their own.

If British manufacturers and Dominion producers are to reap any substantial benefit from the Agreement they must be up and doing. They must face the position as it is. No doubt the Agreement might have given them better terms, but for the present they must accept what has been done and make the best of it.

The Agreement gives them advantages in Empire markets. But of itself it will not sell another pound of Australian butter, or mount, or canned fruit, in Britain, nor another pound's worth of British goods in Dominion markets; it has made a breach in the walls; but the citadel still remains to be taken.

Increased sales of Australia products in Britain can only come from vigorous and sustained efforts. The people of Britain must be educated on the benefits of Empire trade by propaganda which all the agencies of publicity—Press, platform, radio, and cinema—are enlisted. The existing selling organisations must be coordinated, strengthened, and adequately financed. Competition is very keen; rival trading interests strongly entrenched with British capital behind them may be relied on to offer stubborn resistance to every attempt to dislodge them from their vantage ground.

Australian producers do not appreciate the difficulties of marketing their goods in Britain. Australia is part of the Empire yet on many motor for days through the country without seeing Australian products offered for sale. Danish butter, Russian butter, Californian canned goods, Smyrna dried fruit are displayed freely, but of Australian butter, canned or dried fruit, one hardly sees a trace. A boycott had been declared against our goods, their exclusion throughout some parts of the Midlands and the North of England could be hardly more complete.

This is due in no small degree to an organised campaign by foreign interests to decry Australian products. Unless this poisonous propaganda is combated by effective organisation adequately financed, the Ottawa Agreement will not help us very much.

As for the British manufacturer, if he is to sell his goods in Australian markets he must be on his toes all the while. He must study the markets, he must cater to them; he must adjust his method and his goods to the tastes of the people. Many things are in his favour. The Australian people are of British stock and imbued with strong prejudices in favour of British goods. These prejudices go deep down to the very roots of Australian social and economic life. The Australian people prefer British goods to foreign goods—because they have been reared in an environment in which the hall mark of Britain is accepted as a guarantee of quality. But Australia is not Britain. Conditions climatic, economic and social, have created differences which have reacted on the tastes and needs of its people. Foreign traders have catered for these and Australians have become accustomed to foreign goods, which have obtained a great hold, and in some lines have a most ousted British goods.

British manufacturers have much leeway to make up; golden opportunities have been let slip. The Ottawa Agreement is sadly belated; the almost virgin field that was open to them before the war is now thickly strewn with Australian factories. Australia to-day is no longer a land given over to tending sheep and tilling the soil; great secondary industries have arisen which give employment to hundreds of thousands of people who could not otherwise have been absorbed into the population. These industries are, and in the main must continue to be, integral features of Australian life. That there still remain, however, great opportunities for the British trader is made clear by the following figures:

In 1928-9 Australia imported goods from overseas valued at 145 million sterling, of which 68 million sterling were of British origin. A very considerable portion of Australia's trade with foreign countries can be captured by Britain. One line may be singled out:—In 1928-9—the last normal year—Australia imported motors and motor parts to the value of $10,302,000, of which £1,428,000 came from Britain and $8,874,000 from the United States of America!

As I have said, Australians are people of British stock who have a strong prejudice in favour of British goods, but the Americans have catered for the Australian market much more effectively than the British. Here is an opportunity for British car makers which promises great things. I do not pretend that success will be easy; the Americans will make a hard fight to hold their own, but if the British car manufacturers, instead of dissipating their energies by more or less futile individual efforts, fighting each other instead of the American manufacturers, will join forces for the purpose of advertising and marketing suitable cars, they will quadruple their trade in a very short time. And, mutatis mutandis, the same applies to many other British industries. If British manufacturers want to sell their goods in Australian markets they must join their forces to push British goods as against foreign goods.

The Ottawa Agreement, which time will surely amplify, is something more than a mere trade (Continued on Page 5).

"You being my best friend, old chap, I know you'd feel hurt if I went to a anyone else for a loan."

DRIVING WITHOUT A LICENCESHORTLY POSSIBLE

There is one place in the East where you can drive without a licence, where there are no traffic cops to pull you up and demand your licence, name and address, where you can break all the rules of the road to your hearts content. Where, you will ask, is this motorist's Utopia? At Tait's Manila Carnival Show all this is possible, on the greatest riding device ever brought to the East, the "Dodgem." 20 small cars each under its own control of its own driver—the cars can be driven round over a fine smooth flat surface 50 by 80 feet. Each car has a reverse gear so one can drive forward or backward. Don't they ever bump each other, you will ask? They do, and what a bump you get sometimes, but that does not matter; it is part of the fun. Each car is surrounded by a big rubber buffer, so you need not get frightened of a smash-up. That is impossible. You just bump and then glide off to bump someone else. The skilful driver will dodge. "It is wonderful good sport and what makes the ride so popular is that it is the only riding device that is operated by the individual himself. For the children there is the ever-popular Merry-Go-Round and if one wants a good blow and view of Hongkong, then there is the Big Wheel.

Good side shows all new to Hongkong include "The Motor-Drome," a hair-raising exhibition of motor riding, Hawaiian Dancers that are always popular, the Great Tyldon in his guillotine escape act, the Vaudeville show, Tom Tong's Flea Circus which put up a wonderful interesting show—and he guarantees that his fleas will not bite you.

Then we have the great free act, spectacular and sensational, "The Game of Death" which can be seen without extra cost after one has paid the gate admission of 20 cents. This is operated by reckless Eddie Philmore, the world's champion globe rider, the man with no nerves. See him and judge for yourself.

The Carnival will open its Hongkong season on Thursday the 10th of November opposite the Peninsula Hotel Kowloon. Edwin E. Tait will be in charge of the show. The advance representative, Thomas A. Randall, is now here making all the arrangements for their visit.

RIFLE SURPRISES.

Good Shooting Scored in Interport Trial.

WIN FOR STARLING.

Several dark horses have been revealed as a result of the interport practice competition, conducted by the Hongkong Rifle Club at the Kowloon Tong range yesterday. There was only a small attendance on Saturday, due to the typhoon threat, although the light was good. Steady shooting, however, was not possible, on account of the wind.

Yesterday 20 competitors fired and of these at least 12 had not shot on the range before. Four were representatives from the Lincolns and six from the Marines. Scoring was high throughout and up to Bisley standard the conditions were considered, as the fairs at 300 and 400 yards were, flying in opposite directions, thereby causing uncertainty as to the actual point to be aimed at.

R. A. Starling won the cup with a score of 87, which was a surprise to those who knew that his rifle had been tucked away for the past few months; still more creditable was the fact that he was shooting with open sights. Marine Dance was second with 85. Lieut. Hocquard also scored 85 and just missed second place by scoring 28 at 500 yards.

The second and third prizes were silver spoons and an additional spoon was awarded to the highest gun at each range. These went to L. A. Donnan, 28 at 200, Sgt. Dyble (R.M.), and S. Conway, 31 at 500, and A. Chappelle, 30 at 600.

Following were the best results:

BRADMAN FAILS.

Scores Only 13 Runs
Against M.C.C.

VERITY IN FORM.

Perth, Oct. 29.
The match between the M.C.C. and a Combined Australian XI ended today in a draw with the advantage in favour of the touring team. A feature of the game was the failure of Don Bradman, the Australian marvel, who was dismissed for only 13 runs in two innings.

The weather was fine, but the wicket was on the soft side. This suited Verity, who took seven wickets for 37 runs in the Australians' first innings, which realised 159 runs.

The Yorkshire bowler who took all the six wickets which fell before lunch, claimed Bradman's wicket, Hammond making no mistake with the catch. Bradman had made only three. Lunch time arrived with the Australian score at 115 for six wickets.

A crowd of 15,000 saw the resumption of the match. The Australians did not last very long after lunch and were all out for 159. Besides Verity, Mitchell captured two wickets for 37 runs and Paynter claimed the remaining wicket without conceding a run.

D.R. Jardine, the M.C.C. skipper, enforced the follow-on, and when stumps were drawn the Australian had scored 139 for four wickets.

Bradman again failed, being held by the Nawab of Pataudi at forward-leg off Allen, for ten runs.

J.H. Fingleton was undefeated with 53.—Reuter.

CALCUTTA SWEEP
CHANGESHOPE OF RETURN TO POPULARITY

It is understood that the stewards of the Royal Calcutta Turf Club have decided to return to the old system of issuing tickets instead of numbers for their Derby and St. Leger sweepstakes. It has also been decided to circulate lists of the draw among members and non-members will not be issued in future.

It is a well-known fact that, owing partly to the world-wide interest in the Irish sweepstakes and partly to the secrecy observed for some time by the stewards, Calcutta sweepstakes have considerably fallen off in value.

SOUTH CHINA A.A.
FIELD MEET.Prizes Distributed by Mrs. R. M. Henderson.

PROGRESS IN DECADE.

The tenth annual track meet of the South China Athletic Association, held at Caroline Hill, concluded yesterday, when the prizes were given away by Mrs. Henderson, wife of the Hon. Director of Public Works.

In a brief speech profiting the economy, Mr. H. F. Yuen, Vice-Chairman of the Association, reviewed the athletic expansion of the S.C.A.A., finding in the tenth meet a great step forward towards even greater expansion.

Mr. H. S. Mok, Joint Vice-Chairman, thanked the Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson and Mrs. Henderson for the kind interest they had taken in the proceedings.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Hon. Mr. Henderson expressed the appreciation he and his wife felt for the invitation to the annual field meet, and the assurance that the Association, which they had enjoyed the afternoon, and were keenly interested in the growing progress achieved by Chinese boys and girls in all forms of sports.

ARTILLERY'S HEAVY
BATTERYWholly Disintegrates
the Club

Although they were without Strange, the Interport back, the Club disappointed by losing 3-1 to the Royal Artillery.

The inclusion of Williams, who the previous week scored five goals against Eastern for the reserves, made no material difference in the effectiveness of the forward line as a goal-scoring medium. Once again it was a case of weakness with the Club intermediates. Supporters may shortly be asking why the selection committee does not take any action in strengthening this department. The Artillery forwards were allowed far too much rope in mid-field, with the result that both Lyles and Maitlis were overpowered.

Individualism gave place to concerted movements among the Club forwards—a fault which characterized the team two years ago. Strange was especially guilty in this respect, and how could not keep his men together.

The thrushful tactics of the Artillery told its tale early in the game and the fact that the team finished as strongly as it started indicates how dominating they were in all phases. Bryant, Seal and Wood were very prominent attackers, and Pardee at centre half was always in the ascendancy.

It was the result of a perfect centre from Seal that Bryant opened the R.A.'s account and the other two were netted by Wood.

JONES MISSES A
PENALTYAND BORDERERS A LEAGUE POINT

If ever a team deserved to share the plunder in a league football match it was the S.W. Borderers yesterday when they met South China at Seapoon.

But thanks to Jones missing a penalty in the closing minutes, and Davies being sent off the field at a time when the Chinese were being territorially outplayed, South China snatched both points by the odd goal in three.

A first half, full of good football in the course of which the Borderers obtained a one goal advantage, promised better things to come, but they did not materialise. The game degenerated into a wild scramble with tempers frayed and the employment of tactics which robbed the exchanges of their interest.

EVENLY MATCHED.

As a whole the teams were very evenly matched, the neat constructive work of the Borderers front line comparing well with the movements of South China. The Chinese found the robust methods of the soldiers' defence rather disconcerting and it took them some little time to adjust their play accordingly. During that period Jones completed a beautiful movement by scoring with a hard shot close in and by this goal they led at the interval.

The Borderers began their questionable tactics early in the second half and it was not surprising to see a penalty awarded against from which the scores were levelled. After this, the Chinese got into their stride and despite desperate kicking and tackling by Mullane and Morrison, Wong Mei-shun broke through and obtained the lead.

The play became more and more scrappy continuing in Davies being sent off the field, and his presence was sadly missed during the subsequent play, when it needed but an opportunist to score for the Borderers.

It looked as though the Borderers' frantic efforts to get on level terms would be successful when South China were penalised in the fatal area, but Jones shot wildly and past the post and thereafter the Chinese took up the running, pressing hard to the home defenders until the final whistle.

CLUB LITTLE LUCKY TO BEAT ARMY

Promising Form Shown in Keen Encounter

Playing with no fewer than 10 men from the South Wales Borderers, the Army were defeated by the Hongkong Rugby Club at Sookinpo by three points on Saturday afternoon. The game was full of good forward movements, with the exchange pretty even. The Club were rather fortunate to win.

By their display, the Army gave the impression that with more practice together, they would make a splendid combination. As it was on Saturday, although individually, they might have been better than the Club they failed to make the most of their opportunities as a side.

The Club's points were scored from a penalty goal, kicked by McLellan in the second half, and only three minutes from the close of play, the Army were presented with the same opportunity of scoring. The kick was some distance out, however, and Lloyd failed to gather the points.

Andrew's launch attack after attack on their opponents goal but they were only able to reduce the lead by a single goal noted by A. E. P. Guest. They were afforded many opportunities but the forwards were slow and failed to make the most of them.

Outstanding in the Varsity side were A. M. Rodrigues, who played a sound defensive game at right back, E. I. Gosano, left half who was responsible for breaking up many promising movements by St. Andrew's, and P. Tan, in goal.

GERMANS' FIFTH.
The German Club suffered their fifth reverse in the Mamak Tournament on Saturday, being defeated by the Royal Engineers by two goals to nil. They were very unfortunate to go under for they had an equal share of the game. A draw would have been a fairer indication of the run of play.

ALL THE PLAY BUT—

HOW LINCOLNS LOST

(By "Veritas").

St. Joseph's 1
Lincolns 0

(A. V. Gosano)

Faster, more forceful and completely dominating in midfield, the Lincolns should, with these factors in their favour, have won comfortably against St. Joseph's on Saturday. But the team, which up to their opponent's penalty area played like potential champions, fell away so miserably when it came to shooting, that not only did they fail to register a goal, but had the mortification of losing.

The subjugation of the Saints in mid-field was complete, but when it came to effectiveness in front of goal, then the Lincolns took a very back seat. It was one of those typically curious games in which the losers enjoy all the game without reward.

FITTING REWARD.

Nevertheless St. Joseph's were to a large extent worthy of their success. It was a fitting reward for the unrelenting and almost desperate work of the defence and it vindicated the opportunity-snatching tactics of the forwards, who, although given but comparatively few chances of making headway, were, once on the move, a live and dangerous force, threatening anxiety with a capital "A" to the Lincoln rearguard.

If nothing else the match provided Gomes, Marques and Costa with opportunities of shining with brilliant spitting tactics in defence, and at the same time of revealing how impotent can become the Lincoln attack when subjected to the searching attention of the opposition.

The Saints, although continually on the defensive always played with confidence. Gomes was especially safe at left back and fully held the whip hand of Kirkham and Rodley, despite the weakness of Fernandes at left half, who wandered in to the middle of the field too much to make things healthy for the Saints defenders. Marques too effected some exceptionally fine saves in goal and was never in difficulties.

COSTA A SHINING LIGHT.

But the man who did more to break up the Lincoln attack was Costa, whose headwork was so clever as to make him an almost impassable barrier. He worried Higgins into hurried ball distribution and never allowed Harding and Rodley to get in their shots.

Beltrao kept a watchful eye on Baldry, who was never given a real chance of showing his skill, finding either his colleague's passing too wild or the police work of Beltrao too effective.

If the Saints' half backs could have afforded the time to pay more attention to the forward line I am sure the visitors would have scored more than once. But attacking movements had to start from way back over the halfway line, and although when on the move the green and white banners spelt danger, they only occasionally got close enough, to goal to make their presence really felt. A. V. Gosano's task of leading the forwards was made difficult by reason of this, but his skillful and brainy tactics made a deep impression on the game and with Dave Leonard at inside right, there was always something worth watching when these two were concerned in a movement. B. Gosano was not a success even when he crossed over from the right wing to inside left, and although Sousa and Sabban worked with a will, Bere and Turner invariably had the measure of them.

TEAM WORK.

The Lincolns' team work was impressive. They were neat and progressive from the two back up to the forwards, and only bad finishing robbed them of goals. Turner and Hackett, although kicking well, were inclined to become a little nervous under pressure, and Barber at centre-half could never obtain the full measure of Gosano.

The exchanges were fought out at an exceedingly fast pace, but the lively ball, made more difficult by a high wind, spoilt several good movements. The Saints held their own in territorial play in the first half and it was the result of some brilliant opening work by A. V. Gosano, which allowed Sabban to send across a perfect centre for the ex-Recreio player to put into the net for the one and only goal scored.

The Lincolns were definitely on top after the change-over, yet never looked like scoring.

CLUB DE RECREIO SWAMPED

WEAK IN HALF-BACK LINE

(By "Wanderer.")

Kowloon romped home against the Recreio to obtain their first points of the season, but the weakness of the opposition was such that it was difficult to gauge the value of the team changes made, apart from the enormous improvement effected by the return of Watkins to the half-back line.

Out of the team since his injury against South China, he returned to earn the distinction of being that best half-back on the field, equally effective in defence and attack. Bliss also played a brilliant game and with McKelvie showing a distinct improvement, the backs had very little to do and Gurevitch still less.

The weakness of the Recreio, on the other hand, was precisely in this department. Both backs played sterling defensive football and the forwards were very well drilled when they got going. The half-backs, however, were woefully weak and quite unable to hold the Kowloon front rank. Figueroa was less at fault than his colleagues, but even he fell away in the last half-hour.

FOOTBALL INTERPORT CRITICISM

A CORRESPONDENT'S SUGGESTED TEAM

A correspondent writes as follows regarding the Interport Football trial for next Wednesday:

Dear "Veritas": With reference to your article regarding the Interport Trial team for next Wednesday which appeared in last Tuesday's Telegraph.

I agree with you when you said you were afraid the selectors were placing too much faith in A. Duncan. He is a good half-back, but I think Bliss and Lam Yuk-ying are far superior players and should be given further trials. As a result of so many Club players being in the trial team I have heard many remarks as to whether the Interport is between Hongkong Football Club and Shanghai instead of Hongkong v Shanghai.

There are two players who have not yet been given a trial. They are Beltrao and Fung King-cheung. The former is an excellent half back and should be tried out at right half.

I should select the following team to represent Hongkong:—Rodger, Mullane and Strange; Beltrao, Barber, Bliss or Lam Yuk-ying; Gosano, Fung King-cheung, Howe, Jones or Leonard, Ip Pak-wa.

The team as shown above is strong in defence and attack and should experience little difficulty in holding their own against Shanghai.—Yours, etc.,

"SPECTATOR".
Without passing any comments on "Spectator's" selections, I would point out that so far as I understand, neither Fung King-cheung nor Ip Pak-wa are available to make the trip to Shanghai, and that is the reason why neither have been chosen for the trial teams. I also have reason to doubt whether Lam Yuk-ying could make the trip in which case it is useless to include him in the Trials.—"Veritas".

WHO SCORED.

Kowloon scored four goals to one in each half. White presented the Recreio with a gift in the first five minutes and Fernandes allowed McKelvie's shot to twist over his shoulder into the net for an equally lucky equaliser. Fernandes was again at fault when he misjudged the bounce of a long shot by Eastman from the half-way line.

From that stage, both teams earned their goals. Melens rattled the back of the net after good work by Web and Blake got the fourth. Blake, Melens (2) and Webb added goals in the second half, Santos lessening the margin as the result of a breakaway immediately following Kowloon's sixth goal.

Many exciting scrimmages occurred round Recreio's goal and they must have given away almost a record number of corners.

KOWLOON IMPROVE.

The introduction of Webb into the Kowloon front rank was watched with some interest. He did much good work, his persistency being an important factor, but he appeared to lack ball control. Hill's first effort as an outside right was distinctly a success, the one weak spot in the line being Blake. This is a young player with a long racing stride and lots of promise, which somehow fails to develop. Like Webb, he needs assiduous practice in ball control. The rest, coolness in the goal area and an instinctive sense as to the right time to part with the ball, is a question of experience.

The Recreio will do much better than this with a tightening up in the half-back line.

AMAZING SOCCER SCENES

CHELSEA PLAYERS COLLAPSE

Arsenal in Lead

London, Oct. 29.

The most amazing scenes were witnessed in games played in the North to-day owing to the Arctic conditions which prevailed.

In the match between Blackpool and Chelsea played on the Bloomfield Road Ground, no fewer than five Chelsea players had to leave the field and the team finished with only six men.

W. Ferguson, who scored 21 goals last season, was prostrated with cold, and O'Dowd fainted.

At Blackburn, the referee collapsed whilst the game was in progress and it had to be suspended for ten minutes. The crowd invaded the pitch in the match between Clapton Orient and Bristol Rovers, the Police having to be called to escort the referee, Mr. Russell, to the dressing room.

Tottenham Hotspurs who defeated Millwall at London, are showing promotion form.—Our Own Correspondent.

8% INTEREST VS 6% INTEREST

The following extracts are taken from the Chairman's statement at the last annual Shareholders Meeting, February 20th, 1932.

"We feel that the Debenture holder from an investment standpoint, is just as much an interested partner of the Company as the Common Shareholder and is entitled to his just return on his investment, and by the figures given on the two years' working, I think we have amply proven that we were right that our Debenture holders receive eight per cent. interest instead of six per cent."

"The most successful concerns of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interest. As our balance sheets show quite plainly the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of Real Estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the property pledged as security, but as a further security the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the Company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value."

COMPARISON

Mortgage Department, 1930-1931

Year	Amount	Market Value of Property	% Value loaned	Average Interest rate	Average Commission %	Excess Interest over 8%	Amount Commission Earned
1930	10,052,040	$18,562,000	54%	9.18%	1.215%	$118,614	$122,316
1931	19,194,867	34,075,565	56%	9.33%	0.765%	255,291	146,825
						$373,905	$269,141
							373,905

Earned above 8% paid to Debenture holders—$643,046

Of the above mortgages, there was assigned to investors:

1930 $ 6,532,660.00
1931 $13,223,545.00

A lower rate of commission existed in 1931 due to cheap money for the greater part of the year, from September, money commenced to tighten up. As it is we earned 1.33% interest in excess of 8% paid on our Debentures, in addition to $146,825 commissions. From the above it will be seen that our 8% Debentures are secured by first mortgages on 56.4% of value and backed up with $5,000,000 capital.

Describing the battle of Pataoho, the representative said Ma Chan-shan hid in a pond overgrown with reeds. Four Japanese planes bombed the pond and two bombs landed 10 feet from Ma and exploded, seriously injuring his bodyguard and injuring Ma in the face. Another bomb fell less than 10 feet from Ma's hiding place but

The representative said the Manchuan-shan's troops at one time had to eat horseflesh to escape starving to death and were undergoing many trials and tribulations, but were determined to fight the Japanese to the last man.—Reuter's Special.

South African war he was given the command of the 1st Infantry Division and assigned the task of advancing to the relief of Kimberley which was besieged by the Boers. Methuen's attacks at Belmont and Enslin were successful and at the Modder River with the assistance of the Kimberley garrison he drove the Boers back. Later he was wounded and captured, but was generously released by Gen. Delarey.

At the end of the war he was awarded the G.C.B. and given the Eastern Home Command. Appointed Governor of Natal in 1909, he was made Field Marshal in 1911. During the world-war Methuen was Governor and Commander-in-Chief at Malta and in 1920 was made Governor and Constable of the Tower of London.

London, Oct. 30.

More effective diplomatic and Consular co-operation in China is strongly urged by a special correspondent of the Observer in an article on China stating that there is a narrowing gulf between the two services in China itself, and suggesting that Consuls make additional personal contacts, firstly with the English industrial areas and secondly with the British

THE "REVELLERS"

SUCCESS OF NEW BAND AT HONGKONG HOTEL

Snappy syncopation, rhythm that makes you restless until you're on your feet, and melodies that linger, that's the "Revelers". This new dance orchestra, plus one of the best floors in the Colony, seems to have made the new Hongkong Hotel Roof Garden one of the most popular evening rendezvous in Hongkong, and it did not need the added attraction of an excellent night was Mr. Martin Cave who gave two numbers a la Al Jolson.

at Saturday's dinner dance in a happy mood. The Roof Garden was on fete from the moment the "Revelers" struck up. Transferring the dinner-dances from the first floor to the Roof Garden seems to have been a happy thought on the part of the management of the Hongkong Hotel, and the success of the experiment will probably see it become a permanent feature. The "Revelers", who were heard for the first time at the opening of the Roof Garden last week, will play at both tea dances and dinner dances. An added attraction on Saturday night was Mr. Martin Cave who gave two numbers a la Al Jolson.

A NEW PASSENGER SERVICE.

AMERICAN SHIPS ON RUN TO PORTLAND

The States Steamship Company announce an improved and faster combination passenger and freight service. Effective with the first sailing from Portland, Oregon, on December 28, the States Steamship Company will commence operation of 14 knot combination passenger and refrigerated freight steamers to Hongkong via Yokohama and Kobe. These vessels will sail every 21 days from Portland calling at Yokohama, Kobe, Hongkong and Manila, and will return to San Francisco and Portland direct from Hongkong. Further details and particulars of the new service will be announced shortly.

The vessels are said to be former units of the United Fruit Company's "Great White Fleet" which operates between New York and Central American ports. They are of the cabin class type carrying 94 passengers and are fully refrigerated.

The vessels will all be renamed and the new names will be announced in due course. The local office of the States Steamship Company estimate that the passage from Portland to Hongkong via Yokohama and Kobe will take 21 days and from Hongkong to San Francisco 18 days.

This new service presumably will be supplemented by the continuation of the regular freighter service from Portland Oregon to Hongkong which has been maintained uninterruptedly for the past ten years. With the acquisition of these combination passenger and refrigerated steamers, Portland Oregon will have a freight and passenger service on a par with other Pacific Coast ports, and Hongkong will have the fastest direct service between this port and San Francisco.

It is estimated that the first vessel of the new fleet will arrive in Hongkong during the third week in January, and will sail on her first homeward voyage to San Francisco and Portland one week later.

VICIOUS ASSAULT

CHINESE STABBED AND ROBBED OF $30

Bleeding profusely from dagger wounds on the hands, thigh, cheek and hip, Shiu Sau-san, 25, was found by Sgt. Hughes near Chai Wan Gap in the New Territories yesterday afternoon.

A story of treachery and misplaced trust is related in the victim's account of the crime. He was out of work, possessed of only $30, and his position in Sai Wan Hoi village was becoming untenable. A man he had known invited him to come to Chai Wan where work was to be found.

Shiu took his $30 and the pair set out. They were not far from their destination when Shiu's false friend attacked him with a piece of wood, striking him on the head. Then drawing a dagger from his clothes, he stabbed Shiu in the thigh. While the unfortunate man held up his arm to protect his face he received an incised wound on his right hand and a vicious slash on the cheek.

Went from the blow on the head, shock and loss of blood, he fell to the road unconscious. Here he was found an hour later by a police sergeant who rendered first aid and sent him to hospital. The $30 was missing from the injured man's clothes. The police are now searching for Sheung San who, it is alleged, was Shiu's companion on the journey to Chai Wan.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST HONGKONG

"Everlasting Punishment" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was: "Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me and that cover with a covering, but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin." (Isa. 30: 1.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible: "My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord; neither be weary of his correction: For whom the Lord loveth he correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he doth delight." (Prov. 31 11, 12.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through the wholesome chastenings of Love, we are helped onward in the march towards righteousness, peace, and purity, which are the landmarks of Science." (P. 323: 6-9.)

N.Y.K. ENTERPRISE.

A MANILA EXCURSION INAUGURATED

The N.Y.K. announce that inauguration of special excursion fares from Hongkong to Manila and back to Hongkong by the big Taiyo Maru, on the Orient-California service.

The Taiyo Maru will leave Hongkong at 2 p.m. the 7th. November, arriving at Manila in the morning of the 9th, and leave Manila the next day at 4 p.m. arriving back at Hongkong in the morning on the 12th.

The special return fare is $12 for 1st class and $8 for Tourist Cabin class, which include meals and staying on board at Manila. Tourists will be delighted with the Japanese sukiyaki dinner and other entertainment features provided on board. The Taiyo Maru is of 21,000 tons displacement and 15,000 tons gross; and her extremely spacious saloon is a veritable garden in conception, while the Winter Garden on board is a delightful haven of rest.

This N.Y.K. enterprise should afford a good opportunity to visit Manila for residents in Hongkong, who desire a short and inexpensive holiday, or on a quick business trip.

ITALIAN LINER

CONTE VERDE ON MAIDEN VOYAGE TO EAST

Replacing the steamer Gange on the Far Eastern run, the Lloyd Triestino liner Conte Verde arrived in port yesterday on her maiden voyage to the Far East, with many prominent passengers aboard.

Since it was employed by the Lloyd Triestino line in its South American service, where it proved most popular with travellers to and from Europe.

The luxurious liner, which is a sister ship to the Conte Rosso, has a gross tonnage of 20,500, and is capable of maintaining a speed of over twenty knots, maintaining with the Conte Rosso, a transit time of 22 days between Hongkong and London.

The ship is equipped in a most lavish manner, the comfort and safety of passengers being the first consideration. There is first class accommodation for 300 passengers, second-class accommodation for 184, and an economical second class accommodation for over 150 passengers.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.

AT KOWLOON UNION CHURCH

Harvest Thanksgiving services were held at the Union Church at Kowloon yesterday, at which the Pastor, the Rev. E. L. Allen, addressed the congregation.

In the morning gifts of flowers and fruit, as signifying the season of plenty, were received at the Church for the Thanksgiving. Occasion was also taken to observe the date as Hospital Sunday at the Church, when offerings were asked for the Alice Memorial Hospital.

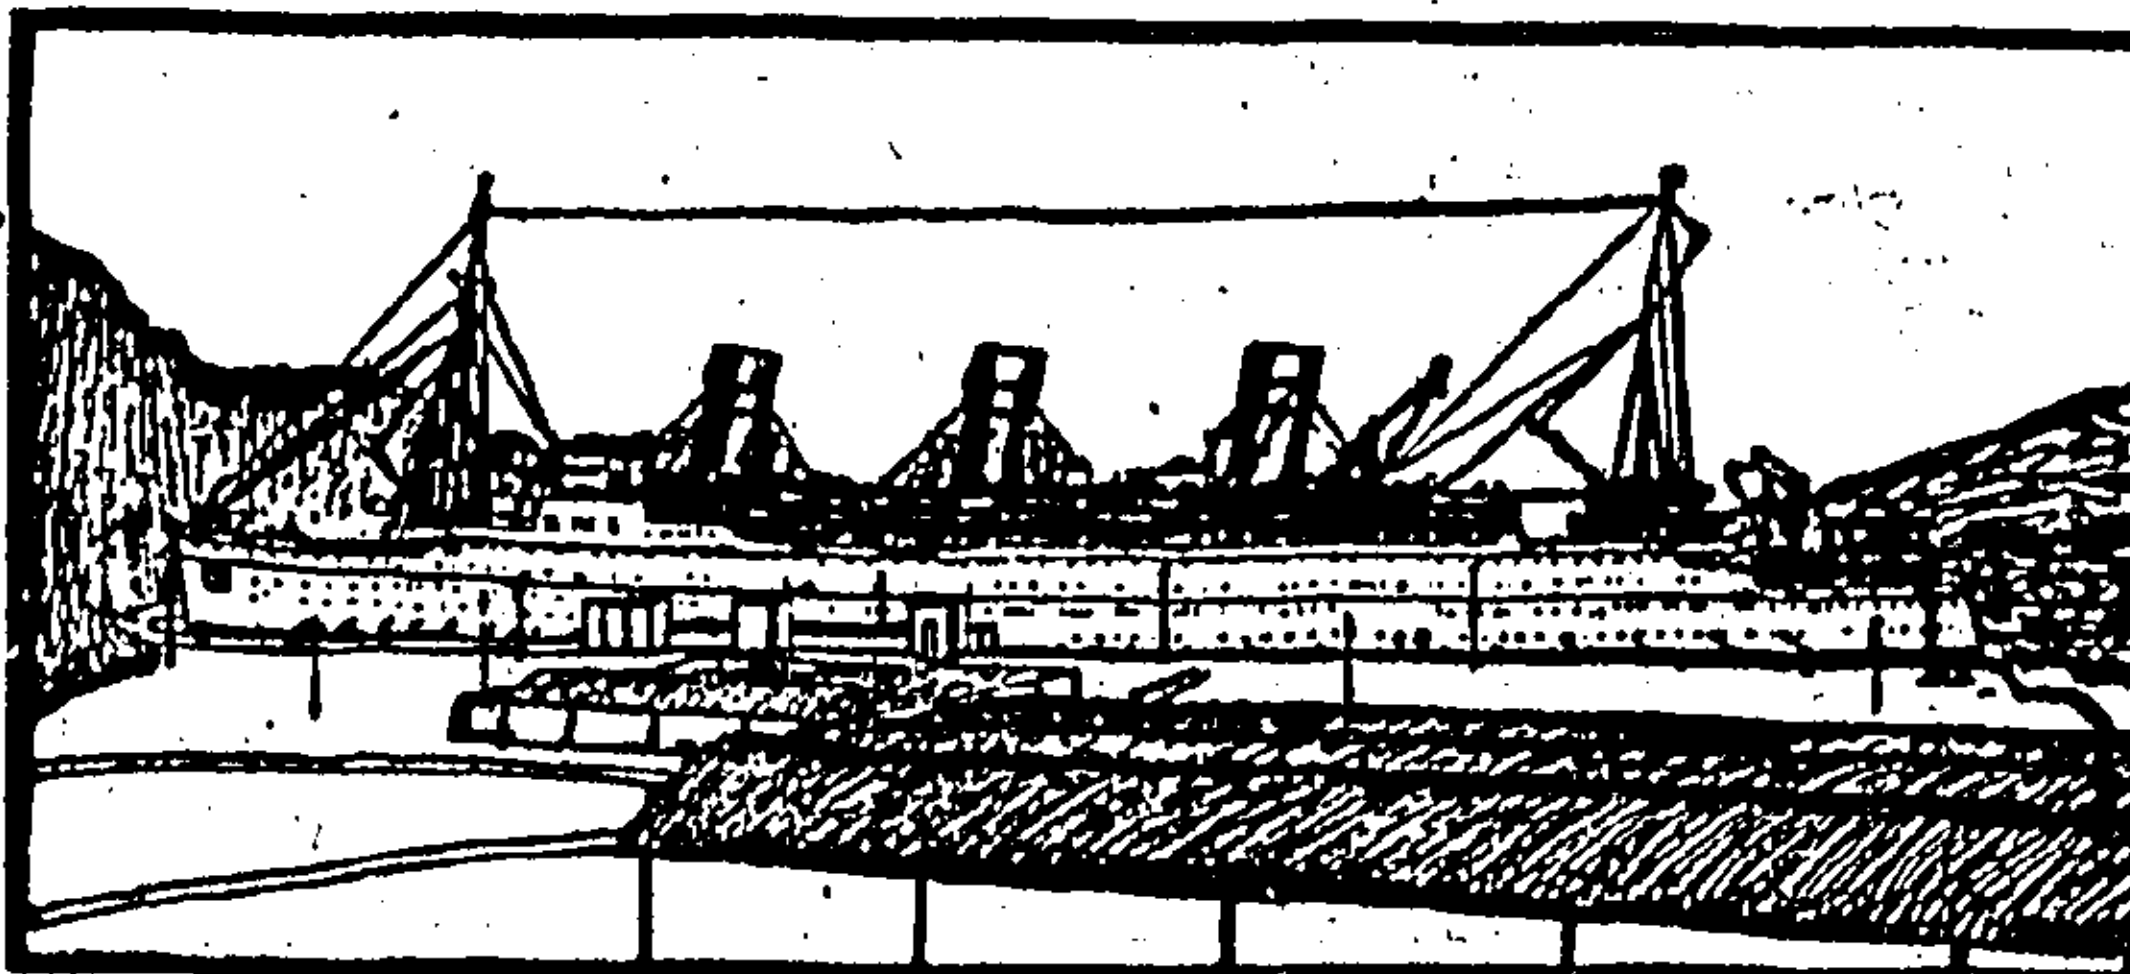

The splendid work carried on at this institution was the subject of an address by Mrs. Hughes to the congregation.

VON PAPEN DEMANDS SUPREME CONTROL.

AGREEMENT ON LEIPZIG COURT VERDICT REACHED.

London, Oct. 30. A Berlin message states that a conference between President Hindenburg, Herr Von Papen and the Prussian Premier, Herr Braun, on the Leipzig court verdict, has ended in an agreement.

Von Papen declared that he must have supreme control of Prussia and he would not tolerate any encroachment on his functions as German Chancellor.

Herr Braun had insisted that Von Papen's power must be limited to maintaining law and order.—Our Own Correspondent.

A Berlin message of October 25 stated:

The constitutional legality of President Hindenburg's decree appointing Herr von Papen as State Commissioner of Prussia and authorizing him temporarily to depose the Prussian ministers has been held to be no violation of the Constitution by the Supreme Court at Leipzig. Simultaneously the court found the State Commissioner was not entitled to deprive those deposed of their right to represent Prussia in the Reichsrath or Prussian Diet.

BAD START

MISHAP TO FALMOUTH ON MAIDEN VOYAGE

London, Oct. 30. H.M.S. Falmouth, recently completed to replace the ill-fated Petersfield, which struck a rock and sank, north of Foochow in December 1931, made an inauspicious maiden voyage to-day.

While coming out of dock at Devonport the vessel fouled the wall of the basin and stove in the stern plates. She was immediately re-docked for repairs which are expected to take several weeks.

The Falmouth was originally intended to sail for the Far East on November 4.—Reuter.

SU'S THREAT

NO ALTERNATIVE EXCEPT FIGHTING

Shanghai, Oct. 30.

From Peking comes the text of a telegram which Su Ping-wen and Chang Tien-chu, Commander-in-Chief and Lieutenant respectively of the "North Eastern" "Salvation Army" have sent to the League of Nations, declaring that "as no effective steps have so far been taken to check Japan's wanton aggressions, we are compelled to take self-defensive measures. There is no alternative open except fighting."

"We vow never to lay down our arms until the successful accomplishment of our task, until we have regained our homeland, overturned the bogus State and freed our countrymen from the oppressive yoke of Japanese militarism."

"Convinced of the justice of our cause, we are confident that all friendly nations will extend us their sympathy."

The two generals charge the Japanese with throwing Manchuria into indescribable confusion and also with the violation of the Kellogg Pact, the Nine Power Treaty and the League Covenant.—Reuter's Special.

IRISH PROBLEM

WHITE PAPER ON LAND ANNUITIES QUESTION

London, Oct. 29. A White Paper issued this morning, contains the correspondence leading to the recent conference in London between the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State representatives. The main features of these documents were outlined in a statement in Parliament on October 18 by the Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, when he made a statement on the result of the abortive negotiations.

The first document relates to the land annuities, which have been collected by the Free State Government as agents. That Government, it states, have no right to collect except as agents. They are bound to pay them over when collected, and the Irish Free State Legisla-

90 DEAD IN BLACK SEA EXPRESS DISASTER

London, Oct. 29.

News of a disaster to the Black Sea express on October 18, which has apparently been suppressed by Soviet orders, has just reached London.

It is stated that 90 were killed and 300 injured. The only inkling of the affair from Russia is afforded by the news from Moscow that the stationmaster, signalman and three other officials are being tried at an Assize in a small town eight miles from Moscow in respect of an accident on October 16, which occurred through an express dashing into a shunting engine to which two carriages were attached, resulting in the loss of many lives.

A message from Cologne remarks that the newspaper Koelner Tageblatt, giving the above particulars of the casualties, learns from a passenger of the ill-fated train that the first six carriages were overturned by the tremendous impact.—Reuter.

PRINCESS HELEN.

GOVERNMENT MAKES STIPULATIONS

Bucharest, Oct. 29. The Rumanian government has granted the first demand of the exiled ex-queen, Princess Helen, for an increase of 20 per cent. in her allowance, thus making a total of £14,000 a year.

She is also permitted to spend one month every year with her son, but only in Switzerland. She may visit Rumania, but is to reside where the Government desires.

Princess Helen must give her reply to these proposals by tomorrow.—Reuter.

BILL THROWN OUT.

DANISH PARLIAMENT TO BE DISSOLVED

London, Oct. 30.

Information from Copenhagen states that a Royal decree announces the dissolution of the Lower House of the Danish Parliament on November 15.

The dissolution follows the rejection by the Upper House of the Government Exchange Bill designed to replace the present act.

The new Bill authorised regulation over all Danish imports until April 1934, and it was proposed that a number of emergency tariffs should be imposed on footwear, artificial silk and other goods.—Our Own Correspondent.

UNEMPLOYED IN RIOTS IN TRAFALGAR SQUARE

SCUFFLES WITH POLICE

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A MOTORCAR

POLICE BATON CHARGE

London, Oct. 30.
Sharp scuffles occurred between police and unemployed demonstrators in Trafalgar Square to-day. Numbers were injured and taken into custody.

The trouble commenced with a wrecking campaign by a party of hooligans. They started to break the windows of a nearby shop and then held up a motorcar endeavouring to make progress through the throng.

The driver was in a serious plight. He was forced to desert the car and efforts were made to overturn it without success.

RINGLEADERS ARRESTED.

When it was observed that the situation was rapidly getting out of the control of the police acting in isolated incidents, a police baton charge was ordered and the mob was quickly dispersed, though not until several of the police and the rioters had received minor injuries and many of the ringleaders of the disturbances had been arrested.

The disorders were the outcome of a large political meeting which was addressed by the unemployed, but the majority of the demonstrators had dispersed in an orderly manner immediately after the meeting. The disturbances were caused by hooligans who remained behind looking for trouble.—Reuter.

FASTEST FIGHTER IN WORLD

BRITAIN'S LATEST WONDER-CRAFT

AUTOMATIC PILOT

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Oct. 31.
The world's fastest military aircraft, having passed the most exacting tests under all conditions, will be shown at the International Aero Exhibition which is opening in Paris on November 18.
The machine is the latest plane constructed for the British Royal Air Force. It is a Fairey Firefly single-seater fighter, equipped with a supercharged engine, developing 800 h.p.
The plane has a normal speed of 240 miles an hour, four miles a minute.
It is also equipped with an uncanny device called "The Automatic Pilot."

HURT FOR TEN CENTS

FISHERMAN'S LUCK AT ABERDEEN

Outlining the circumstances of a charge of assault brought against a youth of Aberdeen, Acting Sub-Inspector R. Cunningham told Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning that complainant, a fisherman of the district, had tried to pick up a ten cent piece which the defendant's master had dropped. A crowd of folk chased complainant, who ran up the stairs of a house. One of the pursuers pulled his leg and he fell down, causing injuries to his back and legs.
Defendant, a youth of sixteen, was cautioned while the bail of $15 of a second man arrested was returned.

SMART MILITARY WEDDING

CAPT. F. W. WEBB AND MISS ELLIOT-HEYWOOD

A wedding of much interest to social and military circles in the Colony was solemnized at St. John's Cathedral this afternoon, when Miss Enid Ida Elliot-Heywood became the bride of Captain Francis Wynne Webb, R.A.

The only daughter of Captain C.E. Elliot-Heywood, of the Royal Army Pay Corps, who is particularly well-known in sporting circles, and of Mrs. Elliot-Heywood, formerly of Bloomsfontein, South Africa, the bride is a charming and popular member of the local younger set, while the groom, who is the eldest son of Lieut. Col. A. H. Webb, C. M. G., D. S. O., late of the Royal Artillery, and of Mrs. Webb, of Sevenoaks, Kent, is Aide-de-Camp to H.E. the Officer Administering the Government, Mr. W.T. Southorn, C.M.G.

The Cathedral specially decorated for the occasion, was filled by a large and distinguished gathering which included H. E. Mr. W. T. Southorn and Mrs. Southorn, H.E. the General Officer Commanding, Major-General J.W. Sandilands, the Colonial Secretary, Hon. Mr. E.R. Hallifax, and many other members of the Government and Councils, military and naval officers, and other prominent members of the community.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dean Swann, M.A., U.S.C., assisted by the Rev. W.W. Rogers, with Mr. P. C. Mason A.R.C.O. at the organ.

CHARMING BRIDE.

The bride entered the Cathedral on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away. She was entirely charming in a most effective gown of Courtland's chenille bridal velvet in ivory, by Worth, faithfully carried out by Eunice. Its moderate décolleté cowl front, and back moulded smoothly to the shape of the neck, caught together with a tiny ring of orange blossoms, were both charming and unusual. The train was of chiffon, embroidered with silver roses on which was repeated the trimming of orange blossom. On her head she wore a coronet of tiny orange blossoms with a very beautiful veil of finest hand-embroidered Brussels net, and her bouquet was of white orchids, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Bagram. Her only decoration was a diamond and crystal spray, the gift of the bridegroom's mother.

A hazy of bridesmaids were in the bridal party headed by Miss Helen Boyd, the chief bridesmaid, who was dressed in a Victorian "rock of anole" green tulle and three-tiered shoulder cape, with yellow flower wreath. She carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli. Other bridesmaids wore the Mince Margaret Sayer. Ethel Raikes. (Continued on Page 7.)

SECRET AGENTS AT WORK

Harbin, Oct. 31.
A tense situation prevails at Tsitsihar in the face of the threat of an imminent attack by large anti-Manchukuo forces and suspicions of plans for internal co-operation with the attackers.

According to the Japanese newspapers, the anti-Manchukuo forces are moving on Tsitsihar and are endeavouring to encircle the city, with the supposed intention of storming it when the moment is considered ripe.

It is stated that secret agents and anti-Manchukuo spies have been extremely active in Tsitsihar conducting anti-Manchukuo propaganda and preparing to assist the Volunteers when their attack is launched.—Reuter.

BLACK SEA TRAIN DISASTER

Death Sentence for Stationmaster

INTERFERED WITH SIGNALMAN

Moscow, Oct. 30.
As a sequel to the Black Sea express wreck disaster, the Supreme Court to-day passed sentence of death upon M. Bulakoff, the Stationmaster.

He was convicted of interfering with the work of his assistant, named Vontsev, by arbitrarily signalling the line clear while it was occupied by another train.

Vontsev was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment for not preventing Bulakoff from interfering.
The watchman and a signalman were sentenced to six years' imprisonment and one year's imprisonment respectively for their part in the terrible disaster, in which it is alleged, ninety persons were killed and over three hundred were injured.

The disaster occurred on October 16 and the Soviet endeavoured to prevent news of its gravity from leaking out.—Reuter.

FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE

HONGKONG BANK MAN RETIRES

London, Oct. 31.
Mr. Harry Davies, Campbell Jones, senior Manager of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, retires to-day, having completed fifty years' service with the Bank.

Mr. Jones, who is 69 years of age, was with the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank in Manila from 1885 to 1906, being in charge as Manager of the various Philippine branches, from 1897 to 1906, during the Spanish regime and American occupation.

He was Manager in Yokohama from 1907 to 1911, being in charge of all the Bank's branches in Japan. He has been Joint Manager in London since 1912, was from 1923 to 1925 on the Committee of the Overseas Banks Association, being re-elected for a further three years in 1926, and was Chairman and Vice-Chairman in 1926-27. He married Miss Victoria Earnshaw in 1895, and there are three sons.—Reuter.

THREATS IN VAIN

JAPANESE AND GEN. SU PING-WEN

AMICABLE PEACE NOW SOUGHT

(Special to "Telegraph").

Harbin, Oct. 31.
Threats having failed, the Japanese military authorities are now making vigorous efforts to secure the return of General Su Ping-wen to the Manchukuo fold by negotiations involving a possible financial settlement.

In view of Su Ping-wen's communication to the League in which he vowed never to lay down his arms until Manchuria has been freed from the oppressive yoke of Japanese militarism, it is doubtful whether the anti-Manchukuo general will succumb to Japanese blandishments.

Su Ping-wen engineered the widespread mutiny in North Manchuria which resulted in the capture of large numbers of Japanese residents and the severance from Manchukuo control of a huge area from Manchuria almost to Tsitsihar.

Although ultimatums were delivered to Su Ping-wen threatening large scale military action as he did not release all his Japanese prisoners, the Japanese military consider it best to arrange, if they can, an amicable settlement.

The mutineer general now controls about 260 miles of the western section of the Chinese Eastern Railway between Manchuria and Tsitsihar and he would undoubtedly be able to provide a strong resistance.

THE WHIPHAND.

Besides the difficulties involved in the task of dispersal of his forces, the Japanese evidently fear that military movements along the C.E.R. would probably cause the displeasure of the Soviet, particularly now when delicate negotiations have been commenced in Moscow, with a view to the conclusion of a Russo-Japanese understanding. They are most anxious to avoid any dispute with the Soviet at this stage.

They are, therefore, making overtures to Su Ping-wen for the purpose of arranging a meeting to discuss the points in dispute between him and the Manchukuo Government.

If Su Ping-wen agrees to negotiate, Japanese and Manchukuo representatives would proceed to the venue, probably Manchuria, by air.

The headquarters of the Japanese Army in Manchuria have just been removed from Mukden to Changchun, to which city General Muto and his staff have already proceeded.—Reuter.

NO NEWS FROM PRATAS

HOPES OF EARLY INFORMATION

No news has yet been received by the Royal Observatory from Pratas wireless station since 11 p.m. on Friday, when typhoon force wind was being experienced here. It is understood, however, that the station is in communication with Shanghai and Manila on short-wave, but the wavelength being used is not known in Hongkong. Efforts are, however, being made to secure this information, and then it is likely that more definite news will be received of the effects of the typhoon.

The China Navigation s.s. Kaying was in very close proximity to the typhoon on Saturday, while on her way from Bangkok to Swatow. Information has, however, been received that she has not been damaged. She is expected here from Swatow to-morrow.

REICH CONTROL IN PRUSSIA

POLITICAL FUSION PROPOSALS

A COMPROMISE AGREEMENT

Berlin, Oct. 30.
The constitutional struggle between the State Ministers of Prussia and the Von Papen Government having been overcome by a compromise agreement, the political fusion of the Reich and Prussia will be accomplished to-morrow.

An official announcement will be made defining the proposals for the fusion and making various appointments in consequence thereof.

Herr Bracht and Herr Popitz, Reich Ministers without portfolio, will take over the Prussian Ministries of the Interior and Finance respectively.

Herr Braun, the Reich Minister of Food, will be entrusted with the Prussian Ministry of Agriculture.

REICH CONTROL.

AN ELEGANT FRAUD

BOGUS FACTORY INSPECTOR

Police investigations following the report that a foreigner, posing as an Inspector of Factories, has been going the round of factories on the mainland and demanding "squeeze" from the managements, have led to the conviction that the man is a Portuguese, of short and thin build, but with an elegant appearance which his well-pomaded hair and neat suit of grey serge emphasized.

This elegance was also imparted to his fine gestures, and he never spoke except through the medium of a Chinese interpreter who "diffidently" followed him about.
One of his victims, Lau Wai-kun, manager of the Yuet Yee Lung Knitting Factory at Mongkok, who was induced to part with money, describes him as of singularly youthful appearance, certainly not more than 25 years old.

The area of Mongkok where are situated a large number of factories, has been the "Inspector's" field of exploitation within the past few days, but it seems that not many have been imposed upon.
The Police have the matter under close investigation.

AMERICA'S NEXT CABINET

WASHINGTON SEERS ACTIVE

While Mr. Franklin Roosevelt has not yet defeated President Hoover in the election, political prophets in Washington are already selecting his Cabinet for him.

Mr. John W. Davis, former Ambassador to Great Britain, is the most probable choice for Secretary of State in the event of Mr. Roosevelt's success in the presidential campaign, according to current expectation.

Mr. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in the Wilson cabinet, now practising law at Cleveland, is regarded as extremely well-qualified for the post, and strong representations on his behalf are anticipated. Mr. Baker is considered to have been one of the ablest members of the Wilson cabinet, and "insiders" say that he had a very prominent part in discussions of international policy during the World War.

MR. POLK QUALIFIED.

Mr. Frank L. Polk, formerly Under-Secretary of State and for a time Acting Secretary, is also likely to receive consideration in the event that Mr. Davis and Mr. Baker are required for other posts, but he does not have extensive political support.

The "edge" given to Mr. Davis in advance speculation rests upon his prestige as diplomat and attorney, and the belief that his appointment would command high confidence at home and abroad.

All disinterested observers concede the availability of Democratic cabinet material of exceptional talent and administrative experience, and this fact is extensively agitated among Democrats as an asset in the campaign.

Messrs. Davis, Baker, Owen D. Young, and William G. McAdoo, are mentioned as the possible "big four" in the cabinet, and their qualifications are compared with those of Messrs. Stimson, Ogden Mills, Hurley and the most prominent advisers in President Hoover's cabinet.

Mr. Young is mentioned most frequently as Secretary of the Treasury, although observers consider that his numerous large business interests might make his appointment inconvenient.

BELIEF IN ABILITY.

Mr. Young's strength rests on a widespread belief in his ability and his success in a variety of difficult national and international enterprises and the presumption that his appointment would command the confidence of financial New York.

Mr. William G. McAdoo, famous during the war as Secretary of the Treasury for management of the great Liberty Loans, is Democratic candidate for Senator from California. If successful, President Roosevelt would probably depend on him as a powerful ally in the Senate. If he should be defeated in Hoover's home State by a narrow margin, he would probably still be regarded as eligible for a Cabinet post.

"AL" SMITH FAVOURED.

The qualifications of Mr. Alfred E. Smith, the defeated Presidential candidate, for a cabinet post, are of course, evident. Since he has enlisted in the presidential campaign, a cabinet appointment may be offered him, if he desires such a plan.

Senator Carter Glass, for a time Secretary of Treasury in the Wilson cabinet, and co-author of the Federal Reserve Act, is also frequently mentioned as a Cabinet possibility. Senators of both parties have paid tribute to his extraordinary talent in fiscal matters, and he has had a leading part in most fiscal and banking legislation during the last decade. His appointment would (Continued on Page 10.)

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. Mc Kenney

A clever example of card reading by application of the rule of 11 occurred in the final session of the National Masters' Individual Championship Tournament. The East hand was played by David Burnstine, and he succeeded in making four no trump against a defence which defeated most East players at three.

♠K-9-7-6-4	♠A-8-2
♥K-10-2	♥4-3
♦7-6-3	♦K-4-2
♣3-2	♣K-Q-7-6-4
♠J-5	♠Q-10-3
♥A-Q-6	♥J-9-8-7-5
♦A-Q-J-10-5	♦9-8
♣J-9-8	♣A-10-5

The Bidding.

After a pass by South, West opened the bidding with one diamond. North and South being vulnerable, the North player did not dare consider a defensive overcall. He passed and East bid two no trump. West raised to three no trump, which became the final contract.

The Play.

South's correct opening was the seven of hearts and most declarers finessed the queen in dummy, which proved to be a fatal error. North won with the king and drove out the ace of hearts immediately, so that when South was in the lead with the ace of clubs, his remaining hearts were established.

Burnstine played more cautiously and refused to cover the seven of hearts when it was led. North now did some card counting, and by the rule of 11 he determined that Burnstine in the East had no heart which could take the seven, therefore North played the deuce of hearts. When South's seven held the first trick, he continued with the five of hearts.

It was now Burnstine's turn to apply the rule of 11 and he reasoned in the following manner—South's seven spot lead showed that he had three higher hearts; therefore, by a process of elimination, North had two.

The five of hearts led to the second trick marked South with a five-card suit originally, and therefore North could have only two hearts left—both of which were higher than the seven. If North had held two intermediate hearts—such as the eight, nine, ten or jack—he should have played one of them to the first trick for two reasons: first, to signify his approval of the lead and his desire for its continuation; and secondly, to unblock the suit for his partner. When North displayed the deuce, a decidedly discouraging card, it could only be because he did not wish to take the lead, and the deuce was the only card he could play to leave the lead with South.

Burnstine reasoned that North allowed South to hold the first trick in order to get another lead through the ace-queen in dummy, and therefore one of North's high hearts must be the king. Accordingly he played the ace in dummy, wisely refusing an obvious finesse.

After running off five diamonds, he led a small club from dummy. South won with the ace and returned a heart, but North's king blocked the suit.

Although South held two more good hearts there was no way for him to get the lead and Burnstine made the remaining tricks.

DISARMAMENT
PLAN*FRENCH PROPOSAL
REACTIONS

London, Oct. 30.

An important statement on the French disarmament plan as it affects Britain, has been made to Reuters' Paris correspondent by a high official who is closely associated with the preparation of the plan.

He said there was no cause for alarm in Britain, as there was no question of renegeing the protocol with its compulsory armed resistance for attacked countries. The proposed system of regional mutual assistance did not mean asking Britain to join the Eastern Locarno nor for Britain to be called on to supply troops to a standing common army to prevent aggression. Similarly the plan left unaffected armies, such as Britain's, which were kept for Colonial service. Britain was not expected to adopt conscription.

Two New Points.

The official French communiqué on the disarmament plan adds two points to those announced by M. Herriot yesterday.

The points which deal with the conditions on which France will agree to the generalisation of reduction of short-term service for all metropolitan land forces are—(1) Provided disarmament is interdependent between land, sea and air forces. (2) Provided the nations responsible for overseas territories retain their specialised forces.

The International atmosphere which has hitherto been shown in the French disarmament plan encourages M. Herriot to pursue a daring plan of issuing a verbal summary of the proposals, which will probably be given at Geneva on November 3.

Silently Hopeful.

Official opinion in London is silently hopeful that the initiative of the American Ambassador, Mr. Norman Davis, will lead to the achievement of a formula under which Germany will be brought back to the Geneva Conference.

Though there will be no German delegation to the Disarmament Bureau meeting at Geneva on Thursday, it is known that Herr Neurath will then be at Geneva in connexion with the Manchurian issue.

It is realised that the final solution of the disarmament problem hinges on the result of the German elections, but the German Government's qualified welcome of the French plan shows that a constructive approach is now in the making from both sides of the Geneva fence.

Press Comment.

The Observer says the plan is mystifying Paris and the world. The scheme is hard for Germany to accept as it will perpetuate for some years the present relative inferiority of the Reichswehr. The newspaper contends that the vital cause of difficulty and danger is not the Franco-German question but the complicated Polish question, but for which rapprochement between Gaul and Teuton could be effected.—Reuter.

It is hoped there will be, as in previous years, a general co-operation in the observance of the anniversary.

According to present arrangements, the King will attend a central celebration at the Cenotaph in Whitehall and shortly before the service begins the King and the Duke of York will lay wreaths at the base of the memorial. Wreaths will subsequently be laid on behalf of other members of the Royal Family and his Majesty's Governments of the United Kingdom, Dominions, India, Colonies and Protectorates, and on behalf of the Services.

The two minutes' silence at 11 a.m. will as usual precede the service, and the silence will be ended with the sounding of the Last Post. A short service will bring the ceremony to a close.—British Wireless.

CALL of the WEST

By R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN BALL, an agent for cattle interests, faces ASHER DELO in his office. Asper is accused of killing men sent to check his timbering activities at Three Rivers. Ball announces he is making a personal check. DeLo says he will personally see that he does not make the check.

Leaving the office, Stan saves a girl from kidnapers. She proves to be DONA DELO, Asper's daughter. When Stan learns her name he tells her he is STANLEY BLACK and slips away.

DUDLEY WINTERS, in love with Dona, agrees to go to Three Rivers and bring Asper back. Dona goes with him and at a little ranch place on the way Dudley puts a plan of marriage to Dona, hoping she will take this plan of getting Asper back to return. She agrees but holds back when Stan Ball, on his way to Three Rivers, steps out of the night and kills her.

At Three Rivers they meet SWERGIN, Asper's timber boss, and he says he is ready to kill Ball, that Ball shot a ranger. Dona decides to ride in the hunt for Ball, the catcher of bad horses and has to try to ride him to keep up her price.

Dona rides the town. Swergin tells her she must not ride without a guard as Ball is a killer and is at large.

CHAPTER IX

Dona and Malloy rode around the corrals and when they were well out of sight of the main buildings above them the cowboy swerved to the left. They doubled back, following a wash that led them from the camp. Dona had slipped the carbine loose in its scabbard. Malloy rode ahead with a careless swing that spoke of years in the saddle and the girl noticed that he carried no rifle but had a heavy six gun in a worn holster at his hip.

They were climbing out of the wash when a rider galloped from the timber and descended upon them amid a rattling shower of rocks. The rider was Swergin and he was angry.

"You take this girl back to camp," he shouted. "I'll ride along to see that you do it. You better not try any more sneaking tricks on me!"

Malloy sat his horse and an amused grin pulled at the corners of his wide mouth. He looked at Dona for acceptance or refusal and it was plain that what she wanted would be done. For a moment she considered. Her rapid appraisal of Swergin told her that he would not be deterred without a fight. Malloy, she knew, would not sidestep any action the timber boss might start—even to gun play. With a smile she mentioned to her escort that they would go back.

They rode in silence to the camp where Swergin ordered their horses put away. Dona made no protest and she left Malloy's eyes on her as he dismounted. She was not yet ready to put Swergin in his place.

Dudley was at the corral and it was plain that he was angry. He had a better horse saddled and had been asking questions of the cowboy. Dona felt a pang of conscience and was glad she had come back. Dudley would soon learn to ride and she must not treat him as though she did not want him. He dismounted and they walked up to the main building together.

"Trying to ditch me?" he asked. His voice was level.

"No, Dud, but I wanted to take a real ride." Dona was truly sorry.

"I'm going to ride out after you every time you leave camp. Maybe I'll make a good target but I refuse to be treated like a 10-year-old."

Dudley said testily.

"It is foolish for you to ride out alone or with any of the men."

Dona protested. "You've never been in the mountains and you've never ridden or used a rifle. This man, Ball, is bad and he is desperate." She laid a hand on his arm. "You should see now, Dud, that I am at home in this country and as able as a man to take care of myself."

Dudley caught her hand and faced her about. He looked deep into her eyes. "I don't want to be a rotter, Dona, but you have me at a disadvantage. It isn't fair. What chance have I to be a man in your eyes unless I get out with the others and share the danger?"

Dona met his ardent gaze and did not try to free herself. For a long minute they looked into each other's eyes and Dona felt the old thrill beginning to lay hold of her heart.

She felt the same fear, too, that would not let her be swept away by Dudley's eager glance. Swergin's voice rose from the corral where he was talking to Malloy.

"Anybody that is fool enough to ride up the Pass Creek trail will get a bullet from the bushes. That's where Gillette got it." Swergin's voice dropped to a snarl. It was plain that he was laying down orders to Malloy. The cowboy's answer could not be heard but it evidently had an edge of its own as Swergin burst forth in a fresh spurt of anger.

An accusing light came into Dudley's eyes. "You were going to ride to Pass Creek," he said, jerking Dona a little in his impatience. She nodded. "I was foolish, I guess, but it didn't seem so dangerous to me."

"The next time you ride I go with you," he stated flatly.

Asper DeLo did not ride with the posse. He set out by himself with his rifle across his saddle. At the edge of the clearing surrounding the camp he pulled up beside a pile of logs. A man was working with an ax beside the pile. Asper bailed him.

"Can you tell me where to hit the trail to Pass Creek?" he demanded.

The man straightened and looked Asper over. It was plain that he did not recognize his employer. "Up to the red rim." The man pointed to where a rim of red rocks broke out of the timber above. "Then a mile along the rim and you'll hit the trail. Takes you down a little canyon and through a strip of broken country." The man bent his gaze on the bit of his ax and prepared to return to his work.

Asper rode on at a brisk pace. As he neared the red rim he began taking all the cover he could and slowed his pace. Already the country began to grow rough. Great rocks rose out of the growth of aspens that had been left standing by the timber cutters.

Asper grunted as he noted that all of the pine had been cut clean except for second growth and young stuff. The drag lines had wrought havoc with the country and it was eroding badly. Swergin was a bit too much of a class cutter, Asper observed, but he was able to handle the forests officials.

As he rode along the rim he was able to stay under cover fairly well. He proceeded with more caution as he got deeper into the broken country. Brush and rock piles offered excellent hideouts and he knew he was at a disadvantage should Ball be lying in hiding where he had to pass.

Dudley sat on the porch with Dona for half an hour. Then he went down to the corrals. He was eager to learn all he could and to get more practice at riding. Dona watched him idly. Her mind was busy with many thoughts. A man rode up and halted and Dona remembered him as one of the posse.

"Is my father, Mr. DeLo, with your men?" she called.

The man shook his head. "He didn't go out with us. I'm looking for Swergin. Have you seen him?"

Dona replied that the timber boss had been at the corrals and the man rode on. By this time Dudley had a horse saddled and had mounted. Dona watched him ride around the corral and down the slope. She smiled. Dudley was game all right and eager to show her he was her equal. Then a disturbing thought crept into her mind. Had her father decided to ride the Pass Creek trail? Her own decision, prompted by Swergin's warning, made her almost sure that he had. And he had gone alone. That was the very thing he had wanted to do, to meet Ball single-handed and have it out. The thought so upset her that she left the porch and headed for the corrals.

She did not find Malloy or Swergin there but she saw the rider who had halted at the porch. He was turning his horse loose and dragging a saddle to the fence. She waited until he had gone, then entered the corral. Certainly that her father was in danger made her hurry. She caught the roan without trouble and swung the heavy saddle to his back. He seemed to have accepted her as master and did not fight when she mounted.

Dona rode straight across the clearing in the direction in which Malloy had indicated that Pass Creek lay. Seeing a man working at a pile of logs, she halted to ask directions. He straightened and looked at her curiously. He was Spanish and deliberate in his speech.

"Up to the red rim, then a mile along the rim and you hit the trail," pointed a sun-darkened arm toward the upper slopes. As an afterthought he added, "One rider went that way a half hour ago."

"Was he a big man on a grey horse?" Dona asked.

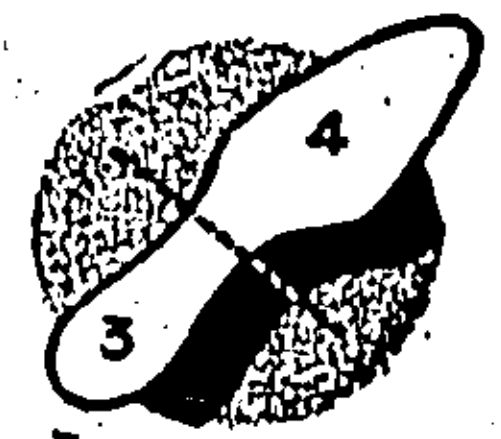

The man nodded and tried the edge of his ax blade on his thumb, then returned to his chopping.

Dona put the roan to a gallop and headed toward the red rim. She was sure now that her father had ridden straight in to the locality where Ball was hiding. She did not pause to consider the danger into which she might be riding. She was sure Asper would ride slowly and that she could overtake him. Her plan was simple. She would catch up with him and he would return to camp rather than risk danger to her. She was so taken with this plan that she promised herself she would ride with him every day. That would be sure to keep him out of dangerous territory.

The trail became more broken and she entered rough country. Finally she reached the end of the rim and swung to the left down into the narrow canyon. She had not ridden a quarter of a mile down this trail until she realized that it was extremely dangerous for a hunter to follow. A man could hide above the trail on either side. He could cache his horse in the thick growth and waylay anyone who came past. She pictured Gillette riding down that trail and being ambushed. In sudden fear for her father Dona abandoned cover and rode at a gallop.

LOCAL OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

M. W. BUDD SCORES AN EASY WIN

HOLDER SECOND

Mr. M. W. Budd, the well-known Shanghai golfer, won the open golf championship of the Colony at Fanling yesterday, returning a card of 75 over the Old Course and a card of 71 over the New Course for an aggregate of 146.

He led the field eight strokes ahead of the holder, Mr. A. B. Stewart, who returned 76 and 78 for an aggregate of 154.

The best score put up by a visitor from clubs other than the R.H.K.G.C. was 169 by D. C. Wilson, Kowloon, who scored 81 in the morning and 88 in the afternoon, winning the Visitors Cup.

The prize for the best morning round went to A. E. Lissaman with a score of 81 on the Old Course, and that for the best afternoon round was won by A. H. Ferguson, who went round the New Course in 74.

Other scores were:

KOWLOON THEFTS

TWO PAWNBROKERS CHARGED

In consequence of the recovery of a silver cigarette case and a watch, alleged to have been stolen from European residences in Kowloon in September, two pawnbrokers, Ho Shu and Wong Chai, were charged before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning with receiving stolen property and with a breach of the conditions of their licences by not making sufficient enquiries before accepting articles for pawn.

It was revealed by Detective Sergeant Lamont, who prosecuted, that a series of thefts occurred in September in European residences in Kowloon. Immediately after these thefts were reported, the police circulated a description of the conditions of their licences by not making sufficient enquiries before accepting articles for pawn.

On October 19, Sergeant Lamont carried out a raid on a house in Woosung Street, and there arrested a man, in whose possession were found pawn-tickets relating to a silver cigarette case and a watch, which formed the subject of the charge in this case. The man arrested in this raid, he said, would be charged separately.

Police enquiries made following this raid revealed that these articles were pawned several days after their description had been circulated. The description of the case was very clear indeed; in fact the date, "1st January, 1930," was inscribed on the top right-hand corner.

Giving evidence, Mr. C. A. Goldenberg, of No. 284, Prince Edward Road, said he identified the cigarette case as that of Capt. Lionel Melton, master of the s.s. Himsung, who also stayed at the above address with his wife. Witness testified to the case being stolen on the night of September 21, a report being made to the police. The value of the article was $95.

The hearing was adjourned until to-morrow morning for further evidence to be called.

LINCOLNS' COLOURS

ARTILLERY'S HEAVY BATTERY

Wholly Disintegrates the Club

Although they were without Strang, the Interport back, the Club disappointed by losing 3-1 to the Royal Artillery.

The inclusion of Williams, who the previous week scored five goals against Eastern for the reserves, made no material difference in the effectiveness of the forward line as a goal-scoring medium. Once again it was a case of weakness with the Club intermediates. Supporters may shortly be asking why the selection committee does not take any action in strengthening this department. The Artillery forwards were allowed far too much rope in mid-field, with the result that both Hynes and Martin were overpowered.

Individualism gave place to concerted movements among the Club forwards—a fault which characterized the team two years ago. Strang was especially guilty in this respect, and Howe could not keep his men together.

The thrush-like tactics of the Artillery told its tale early in the game and the fact that the team finished as strongly as it started indicates how dominating they were in all phases. Bryant, Seal and Wood were very prominent attackers, and Fardoe at centre half was always in the ascendancy.

It was the result of a perfect centre from Seal that Bryant opened the R.A.A. account, and the other two were noted by Wood.

JONES MISSES A PENALTY

AND BORDERERS A LEAGUE POINT

If ever a team deserved to share the plunder in a league football match it was the S.W. Borderers yesterday when they met South China at Suikunpo.

But thanks to Jones missing a penalty in the closing minutes, and Davies being sent off the field at a time when the Chinese were being territorially outplayed, South China snatched both points by the odd goal in three.

A first half, full of good football in the course of which the Borderers obtained a one goal advantage, promised better things to come, but they did not materialize. The game degenerated into a wild scramble with tempers frayed and the employment of tactics which robbed the exchanges of their interest.

EVENLY MATCHED.

As a whole the teams were very evenly matched, the neat constructive work of the Borderers front line comparing well with the movements of South China. The Chinese found the robust methods of the soldiers' defence rather disconcerting and it took them some little time to adjust their play accordingly. During that period Jones completed a beautiful movement by scoring with a hard shot close in and by this goal they led at the interval.

The Borderers began their questionable tactics early in the second half and it was not surprising to see a penalty awarded against them from which the scores were levelled. After this, the Chinese got into their stride and despite desperate kicking and tackling by Mullane and Morrison, Wong Mei-shun broke through and obtained the lead.

The play became more and more scrappy culminating in Davies being sent off the field, and his presence was sadly missed during the subsequent play, when it needed but an opportunity to score for the Borderers.

It looked as though the Borderers' frantic efforts to get on level terms would be successful when South China were penalized in the fatal area, but Jones shot wildly and past the post and thereafter the Chinese took up the running, pressing hardly the home defenders until the final whistle.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

By Joan Savoy

If you want to be in the lead when the coat parade starts down the avenue, you must either collar the mode in an alluring manner, or else have a sleeve that is big enough and unusual enough to take a trick or two of its own.

Coats are making themselves so attractive that they are able to get by whether or not furs are worn with them.

The coat at the left features a detachable fur-bordered cape with an ascot fur tie. The cape is fashioned from Kollinsky and woolen, and gives an luxurious appearance as any one could hope to achieve. The tail of the fur hangs down in a manner that is decidedly sophisticated. The fabric from which the coat is made has the rich dull texture that is the keynote of the autumn fashions.

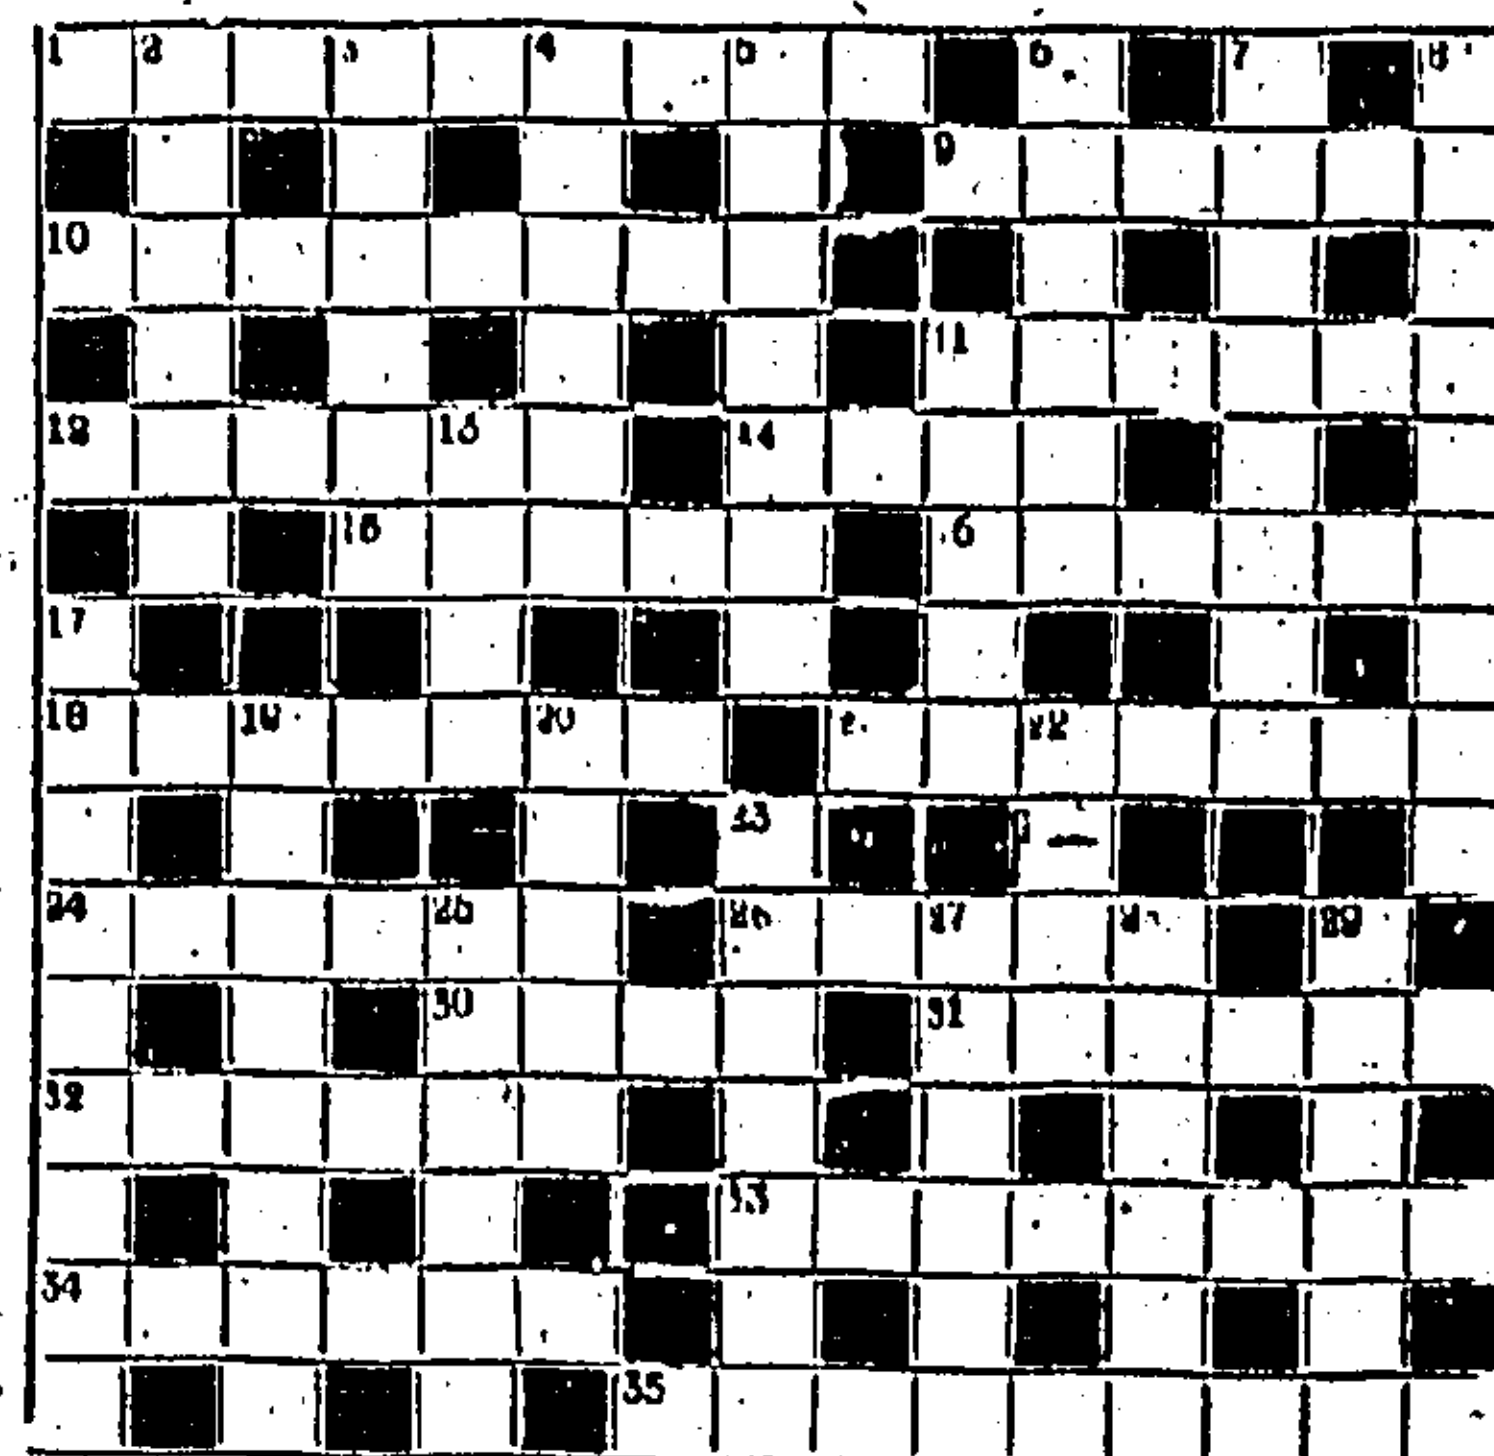

The coat in the second leads a double life, too. Without its fur cape it is a simple, tailored street coat, but when the double skin silver fox is joined and draped around the shoulders to form a cape it becomes a sumptuous dress coat. The coat is made from a new soft wool, and comes in brown, black, green or wine.

The new peg top sleeves, that accentuate the width of the shoulders, and at the same time subtract several inches from the walst, are the special feature of the third coat. The high neck closing which fastens demurely with a huge button is another attractive point. A new woolen which has a dull, smooth, velvety texture fashions the coat. It is flattering to the figure because of the slim and tapering effect which the hipline receives as a result of the extreme shoulder width.

This coat may be worn with or without a fur scarf and be just as good looking either way.

DISASTROUS?

When "Opposites" Marry.

When John and Mary became engaged, eyebrows were raised; when their marriage followed soon after, disaster was predicted.

What could they have in common? John was studious and reserved, and treasured solitude above all things. His wife, whom many men had admired and wooed in vain, was cast in a very different mould. She seldom read what he classed as "highbrow" stuff. She made friends wherever she went, and was at her best in a noisy crowd.

What magnetism drew those two together, no one could tell. Months and years passed, increasing the calm harmony of their married life.

"Ah, yes," said would-be wiseacres, trying to uphold their theories. "It would have been disastrous if their temperaments had been reversed, he of the hail-fellow-well-met type, and she of a retiring disposition."

"Not!" said Darby and Joan. When they married Joan was a shy little reclusive, whose interests were within the four walls of her mother's house, which breathed an atmosphere of lavender and antiques. Darby was what was known in those days as a "buck," and in 1932 "a blood." But they and the attraction persists.

In there a secret in it? No! These two cases only help to prove the theory that opposites attract, and the attraction persists.

"Two minds with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one" ... My sainted aunt! What an epitaph for two miserably bored creatures, who complacently sank into the grave, which so resembled the life of stagnation through which they had drowned.

Nothing is more fatal to matrimonial bliss than the slow canker of boredom. Who has not felt, at some time or other, a homicidal urge towards the person who invariably agrees with every statement one makes, however ridiculous?

A healthy argument, resulting from two opposing points of view, is the best stimulant human nature can receive. Just as a different temperament can jog up one's mental liver, so can it lead one into beneficially different spheres of action.

The scholarly husband will be all the better of a fast game of tennis with his sport-loving wife. He will grow to enjoy it, and think the more of his wife for initiating him into a world whose benefits he had formerly ignored, if not despised.

The timid mouse will drop her crochet hook in excitement when a noisy group of her husband's bachelor friends invades her privacy. But soon she will laugh merrily with them, and begin to think herself a proper little rogue.

Meanwhile the husband whose wife is certainly not his "opposite" demurs wistfully, "I always know what my wife will say next. It is exactly what I'd say myself!"

TO-DAY'S RECIPE.

Pineapple Fruit Cream.

This is an excellent way of using up those left-over of fruit which complicate the day after a tennis party or dinner. There are a few raspberries, or a few strawberries and cherries, and three or four plums, perhaps.

Drain some tinned slices or chunks of pineapple, and toss them out with a fork into their smallest flakes. Put the whole strawberries or raspberries and the stoned cherries or plums with these, and pour over them a cream or beaten-egg sauce. Chill it without icing it, and it will not taste at all like a left-over.

The pineapple syrup will do excellently for a fruit salad next day, or will gently brighten stewed apples, if used instead of water. If fresh pineapple is available serve the mixture in the scooped-out fruit, with its tuft of leaves as a lid.

PINEAPPLE TRIFLE

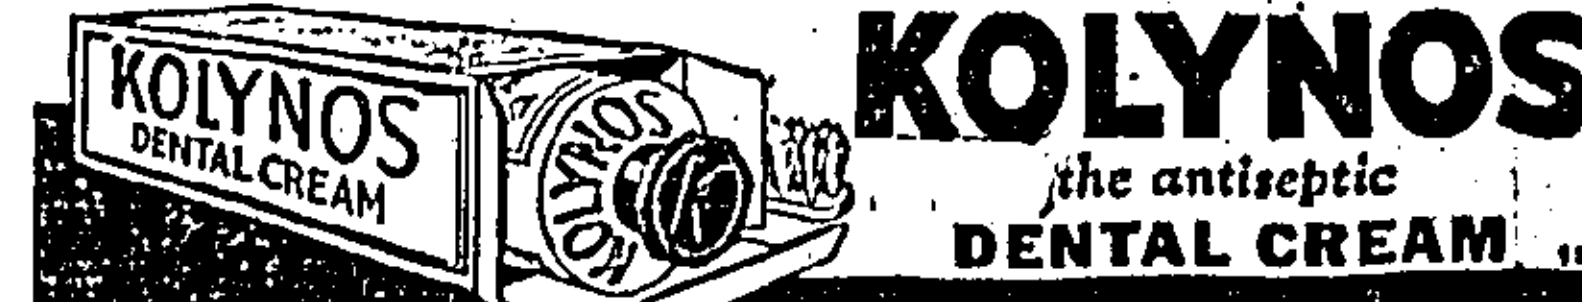

Arrange in a glass dish some slices of cake, and pour over them a teacupful of juice from a tin of pineapple. Cut the fruit in neat squares, and arrange round the side of the dish. Make a pint of jelly flavoured with pineapple, and pour this, slowly, over the dish. Leave all night; then decorate with small mounds of whipped cream, and a few glace cherries.

If your teeth look unbrushed whiten them this quick way!

A smile kills romance when teeth look unbrushed and breath is bad. But it's a risk you don't have to take, for science has found a method that quickly makes dull, dingy teeth gleaming white and attractive, and that removes bad breath better than any mouthwash ever could. THE DISARMAMENT
OUTLOOK

This week, the Disarmament Conference Bureau is to meet again, and the gathering will be one of the most momentous ever held in Geneva, since it will most likely give some indication as to how far the Powers are prepared to prove their sincerity in the matter of cutting down armaments. Much talk will centre on the new French plan, which, it is thought, may go far to meet Germany's wishes. Without a doubt the German demand for equality, if it has done nothing else, has brought disarmament well into the picture once more. No-one will dispute the British contention that Treaty undertakings can only cease to be binding by agreement, but it must also be conceded that if German disarmament was a legal contract, disarmament by the other Powers was surely a moral undertaking, to put it at its lowest.

Sir John Simon has declared that to state what is the aim of a stipulation is a very different thing from making the successful fulfilment of that object the condition of the stipulation. But one may ask, what was the point of saying that the Allied and Associated Powers would aim at disarmament if they did not mean that they would achieve disarmament? The legal case may be as set forth in the British statement of views, but it is not only the wording of the Preamble to Part V of the Treaty that matters. The spirit underlying it is important, too.

The British public and the people of other countries understood and were encouraged to understand that the compulsory disarmament of Germany was to lead to voluntary and agreed general disarmament. The Geneva Conference was called together to secure the realisation of that aim in as large a measure as possible. However unsatisfactory may be the results so far achieved, it is important to remember that the Conference has only concluded its first phase. The British Government rightly states that "it would be a tragic paradox if the outcome of the first Disarmament Conference was an increase in armaments, or the actual re-arming of any State." The only acceptable result will be what the British Government claims to be its own aim:—"A really valuable measure of disarmament in which each nation will bind itself to a strict limitation both in kind and the quantities of its weapons of war." That is the most promising statement of its general aim that the British Government has yet made, and it has been made in reply to the German demand for equality. We have yet to see what it means in substance.

We remember the resolution on qualitative disarmament which Sir John Simon submitted to the Conference, and which the experts promptly proceeded to destroy by their own special brand of ridicule and contempt. We remember also the Hoover plan, which was in some quarters accorded the sort of frigid welcome that is extended to the unwanted guest. It is scarcely surprising, therefore, that Germany, herself disarmed, should have become very sceptical as to the disarmament intentions of some of the other Powers. But the work has yet to be completed. Failure has not been recorded; success is still attainable; and the greater the measure of success, the nearer will the approach be made to realising the equality which Germany claims.

Taxation on Leave

Successive British Governments, of whatever political complexion, are extraordinarily slow in remedying the innumerable anomalies which have crept into the income tax collection practice, be they never so glaring. There is, in particular, one of these anomalies to which attention has been repeatedly called in England without avail, and which continues to inflict peculiar hardship. We refer to the Englishman who works in an outpost of Empire, whether it be in the service of the State or in trade. This man, often condemned to live in a tropical or unhealthy climate, looks forward, every three, four, or five years, to a reasonable period of recuperation in the homeland. No sooner does he arrive than he is the object of instant curiosity on the part of the tax collector. If he remains for five months and three weeks within any financial year, the collector observes a discreet silence. But if illness, or business, or the legitimate completion of his leave should detain him for another fortnight, he is visited with a demand for tax for the whole six months and a week upon his current income, and also upon any saving he may have brought with him to spend in the country. Resentful and irritated, he naturally forestalls any such mishap by completing his leave on the Continent. In further illustration of the absurdity and injustice of the system, it may be pointed out that the returned exile can stay in the country from November till August (that is, for five months in each of two financial years) with impunity; if he stays from May till February he pays ten months' tax. Clearly there is urgent need of drastic reform. Under the existing practice, the Treasury resolves next to nothing, but merely drives the victim prematurely out of the country, with corresponding loss to trade. A better example of a tax at once futile and onerous could hardly be imagined. Immunity should either be extended, or at least granted for a specific period (e.g., six months) in respect of which no tax liability would be incurred. Colonial governments, Hongkong included, apparently regard the Imperial authorities too greatly in awe to permit them to make representations in this matter.

DAY BY DAY

MODERATION IS THE SILKEN STRING RUNNING THROUGH THE EARL CHAIN OF ALL VIRTUE.—Bishop Hall.

The P. & O. liner Comorin, from London, via ports, is due to arrive at 10 a.m. on Thursday.

The Post Office notifies that the afternoon service to Macao is being resumed as from to-day.

Mr. M. F. Key will speak on "War Minus Martial Glory" at to-morrow's meeting of the Rotary Club.

A Chinese was injured yesterday through a fall suffered in an attempt to alight from a moving tram in Des Voeux Road Central.

Mr. M. J. van Shreven, who has been Vice-Consul for the Netherlands in Hongkong since 1926, is leaving today for Bangkok, where he will be Chargé d'Affaires.

A Chinese woman was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital during the week-end, the victim of a motor accident in Queen's Road West, when she received body injuries resulting from being knocked down by a P.W.D. lorry.

His many friends will regret to hear that as the result of a motor mishap near his residence, Dr. Bruno Hahn, Consul General for Germany, crushed his leg rather badly last night. He is at present confined to his bed and will probably be absent from the consulate for some days.

Great success attended the dance held at the Kowloon Cricket Club on Saturday, auguring well for such events in the future. A big gathering of members and friends danced to the strains of the popular Lincoln's dance band, and dancing was extended until past mid-night. It is anticipated that these dances will become regular monthly features throughout the winter.

Evelyn Laye, the beautiful star of London light opera, while giving somewhat crude material to work with in "The Heavenly Night," her first picture in Hollywood, now showing at the King's Theatre, succeeded in keeping interest alive through sheer artistry. It is very mixed grill, but the film is lively in movement. John Boles again revealed his lack of versatility, but his voice harmonises remarkably well with that of the feminine star.

Quite an attractive programme is being shown at present at the Queen's Theatre, all-British with the exception of one Hearst news reel. The main feature is "Brother Alfred," a film adaptation of a F.G. Woodhouse story. This is sheer farce, with Gene Gerrard in the main role. He is not as good, however, as he might be, but the film is quite entertaining in its way. Other items are an excellent Pathe news reel and some most educational instructional films, the one showing the growth of trout from the egg onwards being extremely good. We could do with more of this type of film in Hongkong.

The health bulletin of Eastern Ports for the week ended October 22, shows the following cases of infectious diseases and deaths therefrom: Plague, Birt 1 case, Colombo 2 cases 2 deaths, Saigon 1 case, Cholera, Bombay 3 cases 2 deaths, Calcutta 6 cases 1 death, Bangkok 1 case 1 death, Saigon 1 case 1 death, Small-pox, Alexandria 7 cases 4 deaths, Aden 1 case (imported), Baghdad 3 cases 2 deaths, Basra 18 cases 9 deaths, Bombay 7 cases 3 deaths, Calcutta 6 cases 5 deaths, Madras 24 cases 7 deaths, Negapatam 1 case, Rangoon 1 case 1 death, Tuticorin 9 cases 3 deaths, Canton 6 cases 1 death.

END OF DRIFT—

By the Rt. Hon. W. M. HUGHES

THE OTTAWA AGREEMENT has put an end to the aimless drift which has for many years characterised inter-Empire trade relations and given us a definite constructive Empire trade policy.

Food and raw materials from the Dominions and India are given special advantages in British markets and British manufactured goods corresponding advantages in Dominion and Indian markets. There is, of course, nothing new in preferential treatment of Empire products, but hitherto preference has been a mere hesitant and almost fugitive gesture, lacking continuity and definite purpose.

The Ottawa Conference has boldly adopted it as a means of giving effect to a practical Empire Trade Policy. Imperial in its scope and inspired by great ideals, the Ottawa Agreement is infused by business principles. It was arrived at after long and most trying discussions, and represents the result of a good deal of hard bargaining. It will be subjected to much criticism; some will condemn it because it goes too far, others because it does not go far enough.

The Agreement seeks to promote trade between the various parts of the Empire; but at present trade—not Empire trade alone, but all trade—is wasted to a shadow; it is sick almost unto death. The Agreement leaves the world depression untouched; perhaps this was inevitable, for the Depression is a world problem; but the fact remains that unless and until there is a substantial and sustained rise in price-levels no improvement in trade, Empire, foreign, or domestic, is possible. When and how this is to come we do not know. It may be, perhaps, that after the Americans have elected their President and settled down a bit to cool off, the nations of the world, meeting in conference, may lead us out of the dreadful morass in which we have been floundering so long. Let us hope so.

And now as to the Agreement in its general application. It has brought the peoples of the Empire to the economic trough; whether they drink or not depends upon themselves and upon the enterprise and business capacity of Dominion producers and British captains of industry. Competition will still have to be faced. The Ottawa Agreement has not eliminated foreign traders, but merely handicapped them. And as Empire markets are very important, foreigners will make strong efforts to hold their own.

If British manufacturers and Dominion producers are to reap any substantial benefit from the Agreement they must be up and doing. They must face the position as it is. No doubt the Agreement might have given them better terms, but for the present they must accept what has been done and make the best of it.

The Agreement gives them advantages in Empire markets. But of itself it will not sell another pound of Australian butter, or meat, or canned fruit, in Britain, nor another pound of British goods in Dominion markets; it has made a breach in the walls; but the citadel still remains to be taken.

Increased sales of Australian products in Britain can only come from vigorous and sustained efforts. The people of Britain must be educated on the benefits of Empire trade by propaganda in which all the agencies of publicity—Press, platform, radio, and cinema—are enlisted. The existing selling organisations must be co-ordinated, strengthened, and adequately financed. Competition is very keen; rival trading interests strongly entrenched with British capital behind them may be relied on to offer stubborn resistance to every attempt to dislodge them from their vantage ground.

Australian producers do not appreciate the difficulties of marketing their goods in Britain. Australia is part of the Empire yet one may motor for days through the country without seeing Australian products offered for sale. Danish butter, Russian butter, Californian canned goods, Smyrna dried fruits, are displayed freely, but of Australian butter, canned or dried fruits, one hardly sees a trace. If a boycott had been declared against our goods, their exclusion throughout some parts of the Midlands and the North of England could be hardly more complete.

This is due in no small degree to an organised campaign by foreign interest to decry Australian products. Unless this poisonous propaganda is combated by effective organisation adequately financed, the Ottawa Agreement will not help us very much.

As for the British manufacturer, if he is to sell his goods in Australian markets he must be on his toes all the while. He must study the markets, he must cater for them; he must adjust his methods and his goods to the tastes of the people. Many things are in his favour. The Australian people are of British stock and imbued with strong prejudices in favour of British goods. These prejudices go deep down to the very roots of Australian social and economic life. The Australian people prefer British goods to foreign goods because they have been reared in an environment in which the hallmark of Britain is accepted as a guarantee of quality. But Australia is not Britain. Conditions, climate, economic and social, have created differences which have reacted on the tastes and needs of its people. Foreign traders have catered for these and Australians have become accustomed to foreign goods, which have obtained a great hold, and in some lines have almost ousted British goods.

British manufacturers have much leeway to make up; golden opportunities have been let slip. The Ottawa Agreement is sadly belated; the almost virgin field that was open to them before the war is now thickly strewn with Australian factories. Australia to-day is no longer a land given over to tending sheep and tilling the soil; great secondary industries have arisen which give employment to hundreds of thousands of people who could not otherwise have been absorbed into the population. These industries are, and in the main must continue to be, integral features of Australian life. That there still remain, however, great opportunities for the British trader, is made clear by the following figures:

In 1928-9 Australia imported goods from overseas valued at 143 million sterling, of which 63 million sterling were of British origin. A very considerable portion of Australia's trade with foreign countries can be captured by Britain. One line may be singled out: in 1928-9—the last normal year—Australia imported motors and motor parts to the value of £10,302,000, of which $1,428,000 came from Britain and £6,922,717 from the United States of America!

As I have said, Australians are people of British stock who have a strong prejudice in favour of British goods, but the Americans have catered for the Australian market much more effectively than the British. Here is an opportunity for British car makers which promises great things. I do not pretend that success will be easy; the Americans will make a hard fight to hold their own, but if the British car manufacturers, instead of dissipating their energies by more or less futile individual efforts, fighting each other instead of the American manufacturers, will join forces for the purpose of advertising and marketing suitable cars, they will quadruple their trade in a very short time. And, mutatis mutandis, the same applies to many other British industries. If British manufacturers want to sell their goods in Australian markets they must join their forces to push British goods as against foreign goods.

CHOY SWINDLE ALLEGATIONSCHASE BANK CLAIM ON LOCAL FIRM*BIG SUM INVOLVED

"We will leave no doubt that this unhappy case is the result of fraud on the bank by the Bank's own late comrade, commonly known as Charlie Choy," was the statement made by Mr. Eldon Potter, K. C., at the Supreme Court this morning, before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp) during the hearing of a case in which the Chase Bank, formerly the Equitable Eastern Bank, of Queen's Road, claimed the sum of Yen 150,038.75 from the Yau Yau firm, in respect of a bill of exchange for Yen 100,000 drawn upon the Yau Yau firm, of Kobo, payable to plaintiffs thirty days after sight.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon, instructed by Mr. E. Davidson, of Messrs Hastings, Denny, and Bowley, appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Eldon Potter, K. C., and Mr. F. C. Jenkin, instructed by Mr. Leachy, of Messrs. Russ and Co., appeared for the defence.

Opening the case, Mr. Sheldon stated that the claim was for Yen 150,038.75 on a bill of exchange of which the defendants and a firm Yau Yau, of Kobo, were the drawees. The bill was payable to the plaintiffs thirty days after sight. The bill was duly presented for payment and dishonoured.

CLEAR-CUT ISSUE.

Mr. Potter: "I would not contest that the onus was on defendants in this case although it may be open to me as a matter of law to do so. I would not do so because I am anxious, at the earliest possible moment, to put the defendants' case before you for reasons which will be apparent in my opening. This is not a case in which there is any technical question. It is a clear-cut issue. The real issue between the parties is whether on the 2nd July, 1930, this bill for Yen 150,000 was sold or negotiated by the defendants to the Equitable Bank, or whether, as the defendants say, it was handed to the bank for collection. The defendants say, as they have all through the history of the case, that the document was merely handed to the bank for the purpose of collection, and nothing else.

"If the Bank's suggestion that they gave cash for this bill be true, then this case is one of the most deliberate frauds on the part of the defendants, who, having got the money, have tried to avoid paying what they truly should pay. It would involve perjury of the grossest kind. We deny, in every respect, the suggestion that cash was paid by the Equitable Bank. If our case is untrue, it involves perjury of the most colossal scale, because every document we rely upon—cables, books of accounts, letters and so on—all prove that this bill was handed to the bank for collection. There is no happy medium.

RESULT OF FRAUD.

"We will leave no doubt that this unhappy case is the result of fraud on the bank by the bank's own late comrade, commonly known as Charlie Choy. We will leave no doubt that after the cash was paid for the bill, that cash was paid to Charlie Choy as a result of his ingenious swindling devices. It is almost common knowledge that the Equitable Bank was in effect involved in a very large sum indeed as a result of this particular officer of the bank.

"The defendant firm is a firm which imports and exports and also deals in exchange, a phrase given to me as covering the whole of the activities of the defendant firm. They represent various firms in other parts of China and Japan, and negotiate bills for them, and also finance their transactions. The virtual proprietor of the defendant firm is Mr. T. Teuk-ki, the son of Mr. To Sze-tuen, a man well-known in all Chinese circles in Hongkong, and proprietor of the old-established firm of Tuen Ki-hing, who for over 50 years have transacted Chinese banking and other business in the Colony. Mr. T. Teuk-ki is the principal assistant to his father in that firm, as well as being virtual proprietor of the defendant firm. Both father and son have the very highest reputation in Chinese financial circles in Hongkong. In their dealings with the foreign banks they also enjoy a high reputation.

"The activities of the defendant firm in the exchange business consisted of negotiating bills for a multiple firm in Tai-pai, Formosa, with branches in Kobo, and Shanghai, or handing bills for collection to local banks on behalf of these firms. The defendant firm would draw bills in order to finance these transactions, and they would

DRIVING WITHOUT A LICENCESHORTLY POSSIBLE HERE

There is one place in the East where you can drive without a licence, where there are no traffic cops to pull you up and demand your licence, name and address, where you can break all the rules of the road to your hearts content. Where, you will ask, is this motorist's Utopia? At Tai's Manila Carnival Show all this is possible, on the greatest riding device ever brought to the East, the "Dodgem," 20 small cars each under its own control of its own driver—the cars can be driven round over a fine smooth flat surface 50 by 80 feet. Each car has a reverse gear so one can drive forward or backward. Don't they ever bump each other, you will ask? They do, and what a bump you get sometimes, but that does not matter; it is part of the fun. Each car is surrounded by a big rubber buffer, so you need not get frightened of a smash-up. That is impossible. You just bump and then glide off to bump someone else. The skilful driver will dodge. It is wonderful good sport and what makes the ride so popular is that it is the only riding device that is operated by the individual himself. For the children there is the ever-popular Merry-Go-Round and if you want a good blow and view of Hongkong, then there is the Big Wheel.

Good side shows all new to Hongkong include "the Motor-Drome," a hair-raising exhibition of motor riding, Hawaiian Dancers that are always popular, the Great Tylden in his guillotine escape act, the Vaudeville show, Tom Tong's Plea Circus which put up a wonderful interesting show—and he guarantees that his fleas will not bite you.

Then we have the great free net, spectacular and sensational, "The Globe of Death" which can be seen without extra cost after one has paid the gate admission of 20 cents. This is operated by reckless Eddie Phillimore, the world's champion globe rider, the man with no nerves. See him and judge for yourself.

The Carnival will open its Hongkong season on Thursday the 10th of November opposite the Peninsula Hotel Kowloon. Edwin E. Tait will be in charge of the show. The advance representative, Thomas A. Randall, is now here making all the arrangements for their visit.

NOT ADMISSIBLE?

Mr. Sheldon:—Statements by the defendant to a third person are not admissible.

Mr. Potter stated that he was only including the letters to show the course of business and that when a bill was given to the Equitable Bank for collection or sale, it was reported by defendant firm to the proper quarters. He contended that that sort of thing inevitably happened in every commercial transaction and therefore their inclusion in the case must have been contemplated. In view of that, he submitted they were admissible evidence. If they were ruled admissible, they would be proved.

His Lordship:—If the course of business is relevant, then it is relevant to say that bills were sometimes handed in for collection. I should have thought correspondence of this kind would be admissible. Mr. Potter referred to several of the letters and stated that in every case the transactions referred to were put through by the bank's comrade, Charlie Choy. That man had considerable personality and had to a great extent the capacity of inducing people to trust him. So much was this the case that the manager of the Bank trusted him implicitly, and, as a result of that trust, he had defrauded the Bank of sums of money which he would estimate ran into millions.

MR. TO SWINDLED.

The Equitable Bank was not the only institution Choy had defrauded. Even Mr. To, a personal friend of Choy, had paid the penalty of misplaced confidence. He had guaranteed Choy with $20,000 and had loaned him $5,000 and some shares to help him over a difficult settlement. Everything had gone. The procedure at the Bank when a bill was negotiated was that Mr.

BIG FIRM FRAUD ALLEGEDMERCHANT GRANTED $100,000 BAIL

Charges involving losses of over a lakh of dollars were brought against Chan Sik-nin before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning by Mr. Hin-sing Lo (instructed by Mr. Peter Sin).

The defendant was alleged to have forged and uttered a power of attorney and with it to have taken control and management of the King Fuk Wo firm at 66, Bonham Strand East.

Mr. Lo remarked that it was a serious case and said he was instructed to say that in consequence of the discoveries after the defendant's arrest, further arrests might be effected in the course of the next few days and furthermore, one of the Magistrates of the Court might be asked for other warrants in respect of other places.

SEARCH WARRANT.

The defendant, continued Mr. Lo, was not arrested on a warrant of arrest but was detained in consequence of a warrant of search issued by a Magistrate of the Court under Section 91 of the Larceny Ordinance and Section 17 of the Forgery Ordinance. Under the former section, anyone could be arrested without a warrant.

Mr. d'Almada applied for bail and an order by his Worship to prohibit the prosecution inspecting documents in a locked safe, now in the possession of the police. The prosecution had to prove forgery, etc., and could not make evidence out of defendant's documents.

Mr. d'Almada remarked that the defendant was a partner of the firm and had other interests in the Colony, including partnerships in pawnshops.

At the request of his Worship, Mr. d'Almada suggested that bail of $5,000 be granted.

OBJECTION TO BAIL.

In reply, Mr. Lo pointed out that other arrests might be made and further warrants of search be applied for. He was instructed to object to bail, at least for one week.

Mr. Lo described Mr. d'Almada's second application as amazing. He (Mr. Lo) contended that he had a right to inspect the documents in the hands of the police. The defendant, he said, armed himself with a forged power of attorney, went into the shop and ordered the people to "clear out" and let me take charge of the business. While in charge of the business, he embezzled, stole or misappropriated everything. Mr. Lo said the prosecution was entitled to seize everything, including the signboard, or even the bed on which the defendant slept. The sum embezzled was over a lakh of dollars.

Mr. d'Almada:—He is not charged with embezzlement.

Mr. Lo:—The fourth charge might be anything.

Mr. d'Almada:—If it means anything, I must ask for fuller particulars.

SAFE TO BE OPENED.

After further argument, his Worship suggested that the position would be met by the safe being opened in the presence of the legal representatives of both sides.

Mr. d'Almada agreed, but remarked that the prosecution be allowed to remove any of the documents.

His Worship finally made an order that the safe be opened in the presence of both parties, the documents to remain in the custody of the police.

Under the circumstances, said his Worship, he could not fix bail at less than $100,000. The case was adjourned for one week.

To would go to the Equitable Bank, where he would see Charlie Choy. A rate was arranged and if that was acceptable, and if the comrade department of the Bank was prepared to negotiate the bill, Mr. To would return to the Bank later, when he would be presented with a document in English. Mr. To could not read English, but it was obvious to him that there were English characters on the top of the paper. It would be given in Hongkong dollars in English numerals. This latter Mr. To could understand. He would then put his chop on the back of the document, and get from the comrade department cash and a Chinese document chopped with the correspondent's chop of the comrade department, showing the amount he was receiving the commission which the comrade received, stamp duty telegraphic charges, etc. The case is proceeding.

Dorothy Ralke, and Judy Fenton, who wore Victorian frocks of apple green taffeta and miniature shoulder capes. They had yellow flower wreaths and carried gold baskets filled with yellow petals.

The bride's mother wore a French dress of Eau-de-Nil georgette and Chantilly lace, and an Eau-de-Nil hat trimmed with peau d'ange ribbon in three shades.

The groom was attended by Captain D.R.M. Cameron, (A.D.C. to H.E. the General Officer Commanding) who discharged the duties of "best man".

GOVT. HOUSE RECEPTION. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Government House at which felicitous speeches were made and at which there was a very large attendance.

The wedding cake was a magnificent confection five-tiered in form and decorated with the badge of the Artillery and miniature guns, and also with the badge of the 22nd (Cheshire) Reg. model of a South African ox-wagon and oxen surrounding the cake, and it was crowned with an orange tree to represent the Orange Free State of South Africa, the home of the bride.

The bride's going-away costume on leaving for the honeymoon was an apricot crepe Beaucare dress with short coat in honey-beige, lined with apricot, and hat to match.

BILL THROWN OUT.DANISH PARLIAMENT TO BE DISSOLVED

London, Oct. 30. Information from Copenhagen states that a Royal decree announces the dissolution of the Lower House of the Danish Parliament on November 15.

The dissolution follows the rejection by the Upper House of the Government Exchange Bill designed to replace the present act.

The new Bill authorised regulation over all Danish imports until April 1934, and it was proposed that a number of emergency tariffs should be imposed on footwear, artificial silk and other goods.—Our Own Correspondent.

PRINCESS HELEN.GOVERNMENT MAKES STIPULATIONS

Bucharest, Oct. 29. The Rumanian government has granted the first demand of the exiled ex-queen, Princess Helen, for an increase of 20 per cent. in her allowance, thus making a total of £14,000 a year.

She is also permitted to spend one month every year with her son, but only in Switzerland. She may visit Rumania, but is to reside where the Government desires.

Princess Helen must give her reply to these proposals by tomorrow.—Reuter.

BAD STARTMISHAP TO FALMOUTH ON MAIDEN VOYAGE

London, Oct. 30. H.M.S. Falmouth, recently completed to replace the ill-fated Petersfield, which struck a rock and sank, north of Foochow in December 1931, made an inauspicious maiden voyage to-day.

While coming out of dock at Devonport the vessel fouled the wall of the basin and stove in the stern plates. She was immediately ordered for repairs which are expected to take several weeks.

The Falmouth was originally intended to sail for the Far East on November 4.—Reuter.

CLUB LITTLE LUCKY TO BEAT ARMY

Promising Form Shown in Keen Encounter

Playing with no fewer than 10 men from the South Wales Borderers, the Army were defeated by the Hongkong Rugby Club at Sookpoo by three points on Saturday afternoon. The game was full of good forward movements, with the exchange pretty even. The Club were rather fortunate to win.

By their display, the Army gave the impression that with more practice together, they would make a splendid combination. As it was on Saturday, although inevitably, they might have been better than the Club they failed to make the most of their opportunities as a side.

The Club's points were scored from a penalty goal, kicked by McLellan in the second half, and only three minutes from the close of play, the Army were presented with the same opportunity of scoring. The kick was some distance out, however, and Lloyd failed to gather the points.

ALL THE PLAY BUT—

HOW LINCOLNS LOST

(By "Veritas").

(A. V. Gosano)

Faster, more forceful and completely dominating in midfield, the Lincolns should, with these factors in their favour, have won comfortably against St. Joseph's on Saturday. But the team, which up to their opponents' penalty area played like potential champions, fell away so miserably when it came to shooting, that not only did they fail to register a goal, but had the mortification of losing.

The subjugation of the Saints in mid-field was complete, but when it came to effectiveness in front of goal, then the Lincolns took a very back seat. It was one of those typically curious games in which the losers enjoy all the game without reward.

FITTING REWARD. Nevertheless St. Joseph's were to a large extent worthy of their success. It was a fitting reward for the unrelenting and almost desperate work of the defence and it vindicated the opportunity-matching tactics of the forwards, who, although given but comparatively few chances of making headway, were, once on the move, a live and dangerous force, threatening anxiety with a capital "A" to the Lincoln rearguard.

If nothing else the match provided Gomes, Marques and Costa with opportunities of shining with brilliant spilling tactics in defence and at the same time of revealing how important can become the Lincoln attack when subjected to the searching attention of the opposition.

The Saints, although continually on the defensive always played with confidence. Gomes was especially safe at left back and fully held the whip hand of Kirkham and Rodley despite the weakness of Fernandes at left half, who wandered in to the middle of the field too much to make things healthy for the Saints defenders. Marques too effected some exceptionally fine saves in goal and was never in difficulties.

COSTA'S SHINING LIGHT. But the man who did more to break up the Lincoln attack was Costa, whose headwork was so clever as to make him an almost impassable barrier. He worried Higgins into hurried ball distribution and never allowed Harding and Rodley to get in their shots.

Beltrao kept a watchful eye on Baldry, who was never given a line.

AMAZING SOCCER SCENES

CHELSEA PLAYERS COLLAPSE

Arsenal in Lead

London, Oct. 29. The most amazing scenes were witnessed in games played in the North to-day owing to the Arctic conditions which prevailed.

In the match between Blackpool and Chelsea played on the Bloomfield Road Ground, no fewer than five Chelsea players had to leave the field and the team finished with only six men.

W. Ferguson, who scored 21 goals last season, was prostrated with cold, and P. O'Dowd fainted.

At Blackburn, the referee collapsed whilst the game was in progress and it had to be suspended for ten minutes. The crowd invaded the pitch in the match between Clapton Orient and Bristol Rovers, the Police having to be called to escort the referee, Mr. Russell, to the dressing room.

Tottenham Hotspur who defeated Millwall at London, are showing promotion form.—Our Own Correspondent.

ST. ANDREW'S SENSATIONAL DEFEAT

University Cause First Reverse of Season in Mamak Hockey Tournament

(By "Bully Off")

On account of the typhoon threat on Saturday the Mamak Tournament fixture between H.M.S. Phoenix and the Radio Sports Club and the friendly game between the Y.M.C.A. and H.M.S. Koppel had to be called off, the Naval teams being unable to obtain leave.

St. Andrew's, one of the strongest combinations in the Mamak tournament, suffered their first defeat yesterday morning when they lost to the University on the Marina ground to the tune of three goals to one. It will be remembered that the Varsity ran the Incomitons very close last week when they went under by the only goal scored was the result was not altogether unexpected.

It was the brilliant play of O. de Souza that enabled the Varsity to obtain a three goal lead in the first half when he accomplished the "hat-trick". The second half saw St.

Andrew's launch attack after attack on their opponents goal but they were only able to reduce the lead by a single goal noted by A. E. P. Guest. They were afforded many opportunities but the forwards were slow and failed to make the most of them. Outstanding in the Varsity side were A. M. Rodrigues, who played a sound defensive game at right back, E. I. Gosano, left half who was responsible for breaking up many promising movements by St. Andrew's, and P. Tan, in goal.

GERMANS' FIFTH.

The German Club suffered their fifth reverse in the Mamak Tournament on Saturday, being defeated by the Royal Engineers by two goals to nil. They were very unfortunate to go under for they had an equal share of the game. A draw would have been a fairer indication of the run of play.

NINE LIVES?

ADVENTUROUS STORY OF MA CHAN-SHAN

Shanghai, Oct. 30.
The exploits and adventures of the redoubtable Ma Chan-shan are eloquently described by one of his representatives who has arrived at Peking after a long and hazardous journey from Hellungkiang.

The representative estimated that the volunteers had fought at least 50 battles side-by-side with the Ma Chan-shan's troops, two of the most notable being encounters at Lu Chuan-tien and Pataoh where Ma Chan-shan narrowly escaped death.

With 800 men Ma Chan-shan was surrounded by 2,000 Japanese troops at Lu Chuan-tien. The Japanese used machine guns and trench mortars and the annihilation of Ma and his men seemed certain, when the Manchukuo flank failed to join the attack and Ma managed to escape to safety. After the battle the Japanese found the body of a bodyguard resembling Ma Chan-shan and announced that Ma Chan-shan had been killed in action.

Describing the battle of Pataoh, the representative said Ma Chan-shan hid in a pond overgrown with reeds. Four Japanese planes bombed the pond and two bombs landed 10 feet from Ma and exploded, seriously injuring his bodyguard and injuring Ma in the face. Another bomb fell less than 10 feet from Ma's hiding place, but

BANDITS MURDER MISSIONARY.

AMERICAN KILLED WHEN RESCUERS APPROACH

Shanghai, Oct. 30.
An American missionary Rev. Bert Nelson, who was captured by Communist bandits on October 6th, 1931, was murdered at Macheng, Hupeh, on August 23rd, 1932, according to despatches from Peking. Driven from their usual lair in the Chilling Ping, districts the brigands held Rev. Nelson, occupied Macheng after the walls of the city had been levelled by earthquake, and finding themselves hemmed in by the advance of Government troops, shot their captive.

Rev. Nelson had been employed to teach English during his captivity. The bandits had made abortive demands for ransom, including large supplies of arms, ammunition, medical supplies, gramophones, planes, wireless sets, and a variety of other luxuries.—Reuter.

Later the Japanese attacked the place with machine guns, but Ma escaped and took refuge in the mountains.

The representative said the Ma Chan-shan's troops at one time had to eat horseflesh to escape starving to death and were undergoing many trials and tribulations, but were determined to fight the Japanese to the last man.—Reuter's Special.

OBITUARY

DEATH OF SIR SYED ALI IMAM

Patna, Oct. 30.

The death occurred to-day of the lawyer-statesman, Sir Syed Ali Imam, at the age of 62.—Reuter.
Sir Syed Ali Imam, who was awarded the K.C.S.I. in 1914 was called to the bar of the Middle Temple in 1890 and was standing counsel for the Calcutta High Court for many years. He was a member of the Governor's Legislative Council of Bengal in 1910 and a Puisne Judge of the High Court Patna in 1917. In 1919 he was appointed President of the Executive Council of the Government of the Nizam of Hyderabad.

Lord Methuen

London, Oct. 30.

Lord Methuen, British Field Marshal, died to-day.—Reuter.
Paul Sanford Methuen, British Field Marshal and 3rd Baron Methuen, was born at Nynhead in 1845, and educated at Eton. At 19 he received a commission in the Scots Guards and in 1873 was sent to the Gold Coast on special service, taking part in the expedition under Wolseley against the Ashantis. Promoted Brigade-Major of the Guards, he was Assistant Military Secretary to the Commander-in-Chief in Ireland in 1877 and then for four years Military Attaché in Berlin. Thence he went to Egypt in connexion with Arabi Pasha's rebellion, being present at the battles of Kassassin and Tel-el-Kebir and being made Commandant of Headquarters.

He next took part in Sir Charles Warren's expedition of 1884 into Bechuanaland where he raised and commanded the mounted force known as Methuen's Horse and received the C.M.G. for his services. Returning to England he was promoted Major-General in 1890 and succeeded his father in the peerage next year. After commanding the Home District from 1892 to 1897 Methuen went to India as press censor during the Tirah operations and was knighted (K.C.V.O.).

In the South African war he was given the command of the 1st Infantry Division and assigned the task of advancing to the relief of Kimberley which was besieged by the Boers. Methuen's attacks at Belmont and Enslin were successful and at the Modder River with the assistance of the Kimberley garrison he drove the Boers back. Later he was wounded and captured, but was generously released by Gen. Delarey.

At the end of the war he was awarded the G.C.B. and given the Eastern Home Command. Appointed Governor of Natal in 1909, he was made Field Marshal in 1911. During the world-war Methuen was Governor and Commander-in-Chief at Malta and in 1920 was made Governor and Constable of the Tower of London.

CONSULOR WORK

MANY SUGGESTIONS IN LONDON JOURNAL

London, Oct. 30.

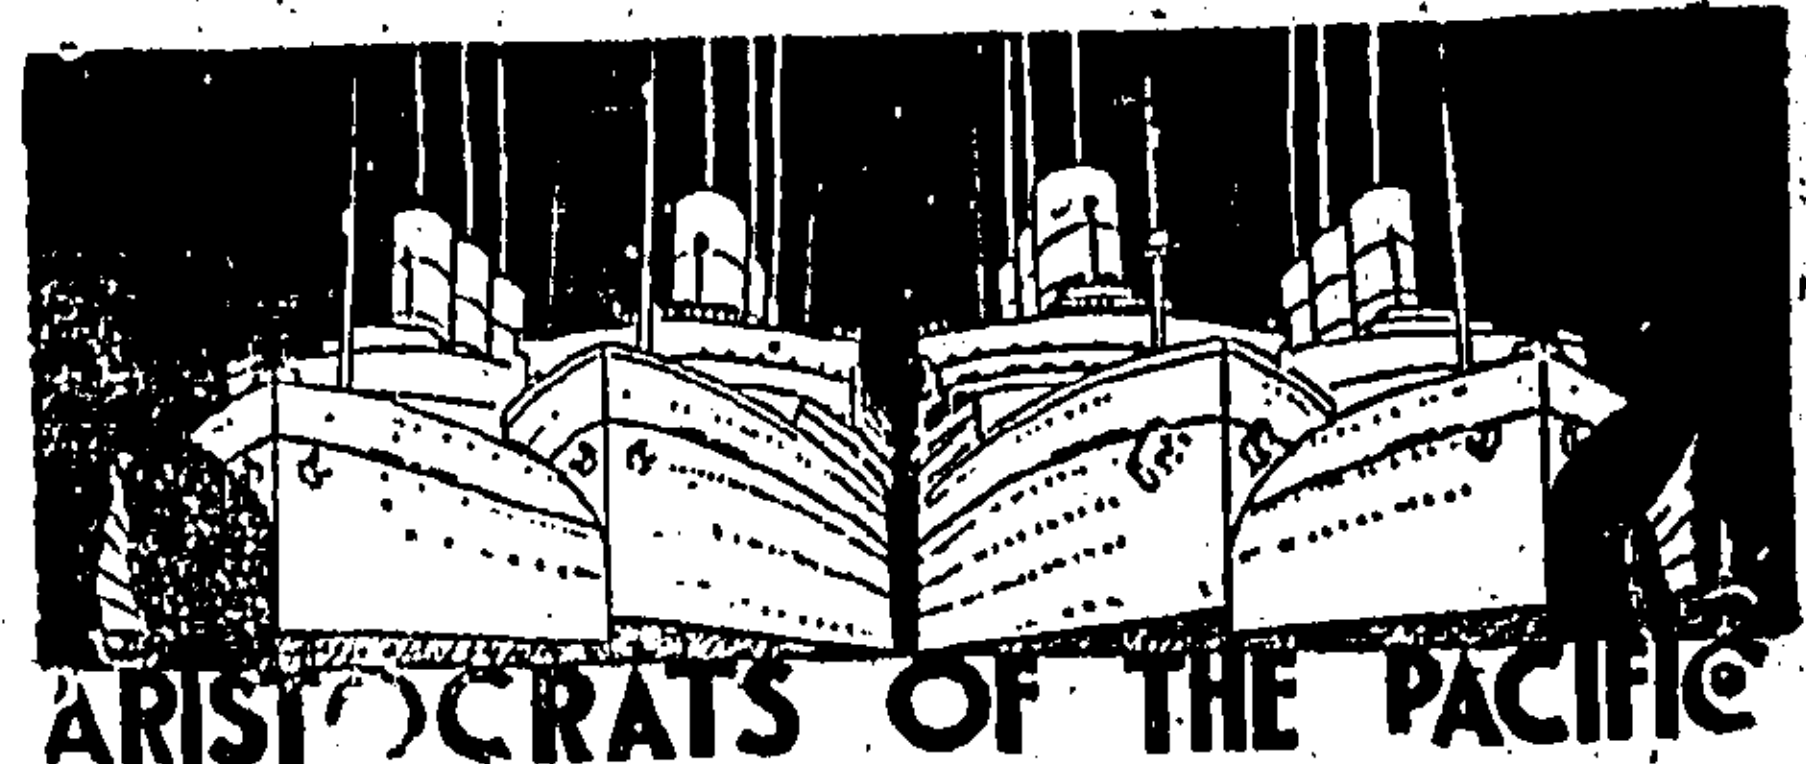

More effective diplomatic and consular co-operation in China is strongly urged by a special correspondent of the Observer in an article on China stating that there is a narrowing gulf between the two services in China itself, and suggesting that Consuls make additional personal contacts, firstly with the English industrial areas and secondly with the British Chambers of Commerce.

The article says the commercial and diplomatic service should be re-organised and concentrated at Shanghai, while the present is the right moment to bring the Legation to or nearer Nanking. It suggests regarding this that either a temporary Chancery could be erected on the spacious grounds of the Consulate General at Shanghai with the Minister residing at the Consul General's house, or a suitable house outside in Shanghai could be leased and a temporary chancery erected nearby.

Answering the argument that this would mean that the Minister would become immersed in Shanghai problems the correspondent contends it would be a good thing for the minister to come into closer contact with the British community in Shanghai. The scheme would save the cost of the Legation guard at Peking.

Another alternative scheme would be to house the Minister in temporary buildings at Nanking but this would be more expensive as it would necessitate new buildings to house the staff which would be unnecessary at Shanghai.

While advocating closer British co-operation with China the correspondent says this must not be confused with laxness and he instances the unsatisfactory features of the administration of the Boxer Indemnity Fund arising from insufficient provision in the agreement for inspection and audit. He cites Sir Hope Simpson's work as a successful example of co-operation.—Reuter.

THE "REVELLERS"

SUCCESS OF NEW BAND AT HONGKONG HOTEL

Happy syncopation, rhythm that set you restless until you're on your feet, and melodies that were "That's the Revellers". This new dance orchestra, plus of the best floors in the Colony, has made the new Hong Kong Hotel Roof Garden one of the most popular evening rendezvous in Hong Kong, and it did not need the attraction of an excellent band to put the pleasure seekers at Saturday's dinner dance in a happy mood. The Roof Garden was on a fete from the moment the "Revellers" struck up. Transferring the dinner-dances from the first floor to the Roof Garden seems to have been a happy thought on the part of the management of the Hong Kong Hotel, and the success of the experiment will probably see it become a permanent feature. The "Revellers", who were heard for the first time at the opening of the Roof Garden last week, will play at both tea dances and dinner dances. An added attraction on Saturday night was Mr. Martin Cave who gave two numbers a la Al Jolson.

A NEW PASSENGER SERVICE.

AMERICAN SHIPS ON RUN TO PORTLAND

The States Steamship Company announce an improved and faster combination passenger and freight service. Effective with the first sailing from Portland, Oregon, on December 28, the States Steamship Company will commence operation of 14 knot combination passenger and refrigerated freight steamers to Hong Kong via Yokohama and Kobe. These vessels will sail every 21 days from Portland calling at Yokohama, Kobe, Hong Kong and Manila, and will return to San Francisco and Portland direct from Hong Kong. Further details and particulars of the new service will be announced shortly.

The vessels are said to be former units of the United Fruit Company's "Great White Fleet" which operates between New York and Central American ports. They are of the cabin class type carrying 64 passengers and are fully refrigerated.

The vessels will all be renamed and the new names will be announced in due course. The local office of the States Steamship Company estimate that the passage from Portland to Hong Kong via Yokohama and Kobe will take 21 days and from Hong Kong to San Francisco 18 days.

This new service presumably will be supplemented by the continuation of the regular freighter service from Portland Oregon to Hong Kong which has been maintained uninterruptedly for the past ten years. With the acquisition of these combination passenger and refrigerated steamers, Portland Oregon will have a freight and passenger service on a par with other Pacific Coast ports, and Hong Kong will have the fastest direct service between this port and San Francisco.

It is estimated that the first vessel of the new fleet will arrive in Hong Kong during the third week in January, and will sail on her first homeward voyage to San Francisco and Portland one week later.

VICIOUS ASSAULT

CHINESE STABBED AND ROBBED OF $30

Bleeding profusely from dagger wounds on the hands, thigh, cheek and hip, Shiu Sau-san, 25, was found by Sergt. Hughes near Chai Wan Gap in the New Territories yesterday afternoon.

A story of treachery and misplaced trust is related in the victim's account of the crime. He was out of work, possessed of only $30, and his position in Sai Wan Ho village was becoming untenable. A man he had known invited him to come to Chai Wan where work was to be found.

Shiu took his $30 and the pair set out. They were not far from their destination when Shiu's false friend attacked him with a piece of wood, striking him on the head.

Then drawing a dagger from his clothes, he stabbed Shiu in the thigh. While the unfortunate man held up his arm to protect his face he received an incised wound on his right hand and a vicious slash on the cheek.

Weak from the blow on the head, shock and loss of blood, he fell to the road unconscious.

Here he was found an hour later by a police sergeant who rendered first aid and sent him to hospital.

The $30 was missing from the injured man's clothes.

The police are now searching for Sheung San who, it is alleged, was Shiu's companion on the journey to Chai Wan.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST HONGKONG

"Everlasting Punishment" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was: "Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me, and that cover with a covering, but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin." (Isa. 30: 1.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord; neither be weary of his correction: For whom the Lord loveth he correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he delighteth." (Prov. 31 11, 12.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through the wholesome chastenings of Love, we are helped onward in the march towards righteousness, peace, and unity, which are the landmarks of Science." (P. 232: 6-9.)

N.Y.K. ENTERPRISE.

A MANILA EXCURSION INAUGURATED

The N.Y.K. announce that inauguration of special excursion fares from Hong Kong to Manila and back to Hong Kong by the big Taiyo Maru, on the Orient-California service.

The Taiyo Maru will leave Hong Kong at 2 p.m. the 7th. November, arriving at Manila in the morning of the 9th, and leave Manila the next day at 4 p.m. arriving back at Hong Kong in the morning of the 12th.

The special return fare is £12 for 1st class and £8 for Tourist Cabin class, which include meals and staying on board at Manila. Tourists will be delighted with the Japanese sukiyaki dinner and other entertainment features provided on board. The Taiyo Maru is of 21,000 tons displacement and 15,000 tons gross; and her extremely spacious dining saloon is marvellous in conception, while the Winter Garden on board is a delightful haven of rest.

This N.Y.K. enterprise should afford a good opportunity to visit Manila for residents in Hong Kong, who desire a short and inexpensive holiday, or on a quick business trip.

ITALIAN LINER

CONTE VERDE ON MAIDEN VOYAGE TO EAST

Replacing the steamer Gangs on the eastern run, the Lloyd Triestino liner Conte Verde arrived in port yesterday on her maiden voyage to the Far East, with many prominent passengers aboard.

Since it was launched, the Conte Verde has been employed by the Lloyd Triestino line in its South American service, where it proved most popular with travellers to and from Europe.

The luxurious liner, which is a sister ship to the Conte Rosso, has a gross tonnage of 20,500, and is capable of maintaining a speed of over twenty knots, maintaining, with the Conte Rosso, a transit time of 22 days between Hong Kong and London.

The ship is equipped in a most lavish manner, the comfort and safety of passengers being the first consideration. There is first class accommodation for 300 passengers, second-class accommodation for 184, and an economical second class accommodation for over 150 passengers.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.

AT KOWLOON UNION CHURCH

Harvest Thanksgiving services were held at the Union Church at Kowloon yesterday, at which the Pastor, the Rev. E. L. Allen, addressed the congregation.

In the morning gifts of flowers and fruit, as signifying the season of plenty, were received at the Church for the Thanksgiving. Occasion was also taken to observe the date of Hospital Sunday at the Church, when offerings were asked for the Alice Memorial Hospital.

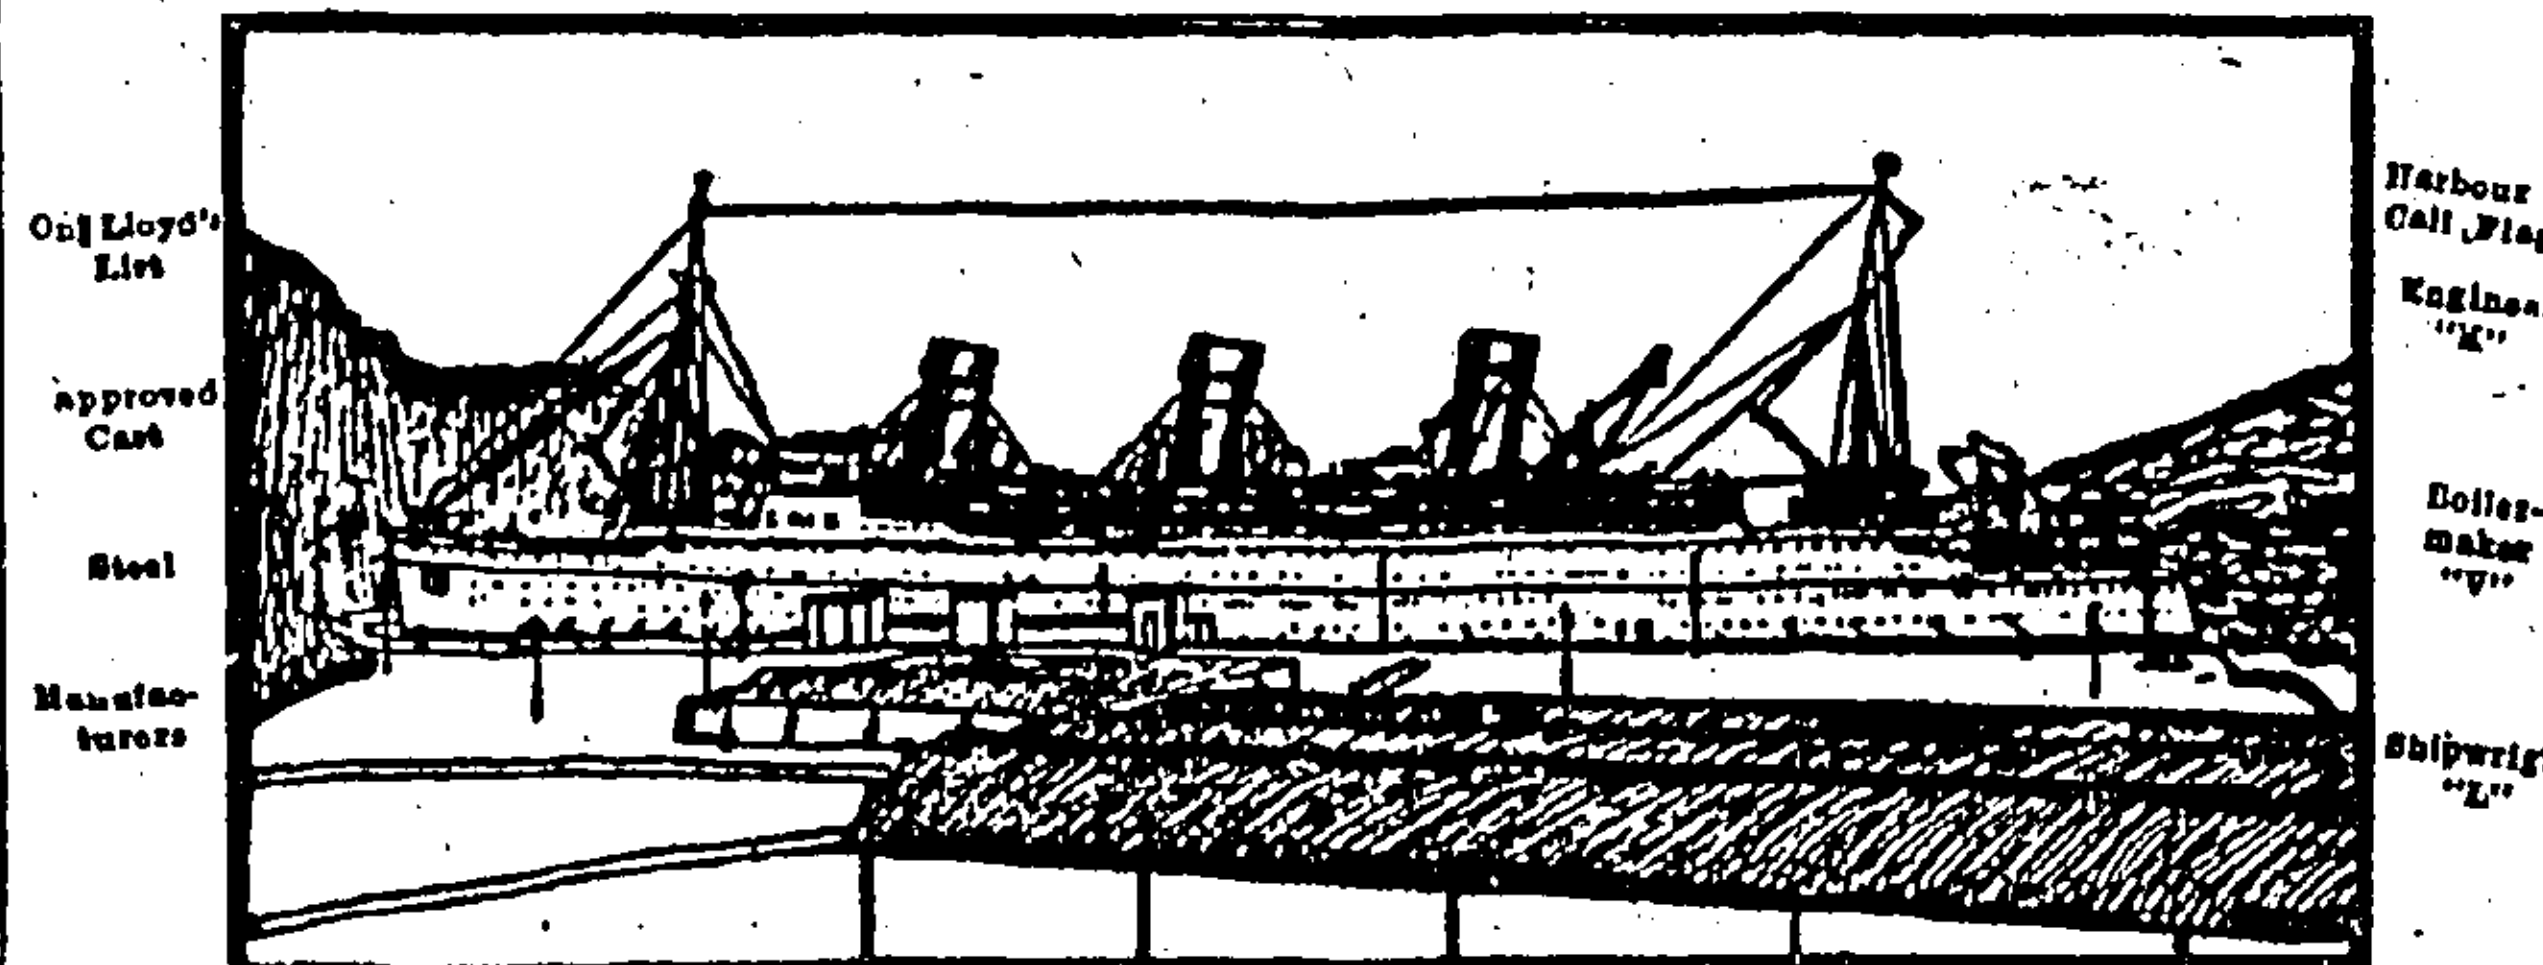

The splendid work carried on at this Institution was the subject of an address by Mrs. Hughes to the congregation.

ARMISTICE NIGHT DINNER

ARRANGEMENTS WELL IN HAND

We are informed that the arrangements are now almost complete for the dinner and amok which is to be held by Ex-Active Service Men at the Peninsula Hotel on Armistice Night. A fairly large number is expected, an extension until 1 a.m. has been recommended, and everything points to a very pleasant evening.

The decorations are in the capable hands of Mr. Tattersall, R.N., who has a great deal of experience in such matters, and a capital concert programme is being arranged. There will be no speeches and the only toast, apart from the usual loyal one to be honoured, is to be "Our Fallen Comrades."

No official guests are being invited. Any balance after the necessary expenses have been defrayed will be divided equally between Earl Hair's Poppy Day Fund and St. Dunstan's Home for the Blind.

We have been requested to ask all those who propose to attend provided they have not already done so, to send in their applications for tickets as soon as possible, as it may be necessary to close the list at an early date, of which, however, due notice will appear in the press.

WHICH WAS HARDER?

PETTY THIEF'S BEHAVIOUR ON ARREST

Admitting stealing scrap iron from the Tuiyo Maru, lying at the Taitoo Dockyard, an odd job coolie was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour by Mr. Schofield at the central Police Court this morning. Inspector G.A. Stimson said defendant created a scene by knocking his head on the ground when arrested.

ROUGH CUSTOMER GAOLED

Second Assault Charge This Month

MENACE TO SEAMEN

Described as a menace to seamen going ashore from their ships, a Shanghai Chinese ex-fireman was sentenced to four months' hard labour by Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning on a charge of assaulting a compatriot.

Detective Sergeant A. Kinnear said complainant and defendant were known to each other, having been formerly employed on the same ship. Defendant was now unemployed and lived in Western Street. On Wednesday, October 26 he met the complainant, a fireman on the Hozan Maru, and asked him for a loan of $10 which was refused.

On Friday evening, complainant was in Queen's Road West, near Water Street when he met the defendant, who asked "what about that money?" He replied that he had no money and was punched in the chest. When he retaliated, defendant produced what appeared to be a knife and inflicted wounds to complainant's head, left eye and thigh.

Defendant had two previous convictions for assault, one in 1928 and the other on October 6 last when he was bound over. His Worship ordered the defendant to forfeit the bond of $50, of which $30 was to be paid complainant as compensation. The alternative was six weeks' hard labour. On the present charge he was given four months' without the option of a fine.

Lieut.-Colonel E. D. Matthews, the Secretary of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club, returned from leave yesterday.

RECENT BRAWL SEQUEL

TWO COOLIES FACE MURDER CHARGE

A charge of murder has now replaced that of grievous bodily harm in the case against Lo Chung and Lo Tack, market coolies, following the death in hospital of Tong Tait whom they are alleged to have fatally injured in a brawl in which bamboo poles were used on the central waterfront recently.

The new charge was mentioned by Det. Inspector John Murphy when the coolies appeared on remand before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court to-day. The officer said that consequent on this development, he would want a week's remand to enable the Public Prosecutor to be brought into the proceedings. He explained that the charge may be modified to manslaughter after consultation with Mr. J. A. Fraser.

Accused were formally remanded for a week. Mr. Horace Lo is appearing on their behalf.

FORGED STRAITS NOTES
MAN AND WOMAN SENTENCED

A raid carried out by the Yau-mat Police on October 28 on a house in Temple Street had a sequel at the Kowloon Magistracy before Mr. Butters this morning when a man and a woman, named Lui Lo-cheung and Lam Yee-mui respectively, were charged, the former for possession and the latter for uttering in respect of 98 allegedly forged $5 Singapore banknotes.

on information, the police went to the Orient Cafe on October 28 and waited there. A woman was seen to enter a cubicle and after a little conversation, she was seen to hand notes to the male defendant. At a given signal, the police entered the cubicle. At the time of the entry of the police, the notes were on the table and the male defendant had his arm over them. When he saw the police, it was alleged, he pushed them down to the floor. The man denied knowledge of the notes, while the woman admitted possession but denied uttering. She stated that she picked up the notes on board a ship. After hearing the evidence, his Worship convicted both defendants on the charge of possession and sentenced them to six months each.
